SEVENTH ABSTRACT OF ADMINISTRATIVE, JUDICIAL, AND LOCAL SELF-GOVERNMENT STATISTICS

INTRODUCTORY NOTE

This volume includes Statistics relating to Administration, the Judiciary, and Local Self-Government. The volume was previously published in parts V, VI, VII and VIII of the Statistics of British India.*

The tables have been remodelled in some cases, charts have been added together with an Index. The statistics have been brought up generally to the year 1913-14. Owing to pressure of work connected with the reconstruction of these tables and to more urgent work connected with the war, it has not been possible to publish the volume as early as was at first anticipated.

AREA AND POPULATION

With the exception of a few sparsely inhabited and unadministered tracts in the confines of Burma and Assam, the statistics in this section cover the whole Empire of India, that is to say, the territories administered by the Government of India and the mediatized Native States. They do not include the Frontier States of Afghanistan, Nepal and Bhutan nor do they include the French and Portuguese Settlements. They also exclude Aden and the Andaman and Nicobar Islands.

According to the revised areas adopted in the Census of 1911, the Indian Empire contains 1,799,434 (a) square miles. The provinces under British administration comprise 1,020,611 square miles or 56·7 per cent of the total. The remainder is included in the various Native States. The total population is 315,083,857, of which British territory contains 243,792,096 or 77·4 per cent and the Native States 71,291,761 or 22·6 per cent of the total. The general results of the Census of 1911, compared with those of the enumerations taken in 1891 and 1901, are stated below :—

| | 1891 | 1901 | 1911 |
|---|---|---|---|
| Males | 146,692,293 | 149,902,599 | 161,288,125 |
| Females | 140,510,923 | 144,389,834 | 153,795,732 |
| ALL | 287,203,216 | 294,292,433 | 315,083,857 |

The totals of 1901 and 1911 exclude Aden and the Andamans and Nicobars which were not included in the former enumerations : the population of these places was only 68,623 in 1901 and 72,624 in 1911. The figures include Native States. According to the Census Returns the total population of India has increased by 7·1 per cent during the last decade and by 52·9 per cent since 1872 but the real gain since the latter date is very much less than this. Large tracts of country including the Central India and Rajputana Agencies, Hyderabad and the Punjab States, which had been omitted from the Census of 1872, were included in 1881. In 1891, the greater part of Upper Burma and Kashmir and several smaller units were enumerated for the first time. In 1901, the most important additions were a portion of Upper Burma and the greater part of Baluchistan. In 1911 the

(a) The areas which for census purposes of 1911 have been treated in Burma proper and specially Administered Territories were 230,839 square miles ; but the figures supplied by the Provincial Government to this department come up to 227,585.

Agencies and the Tribal Areas in the North-West Frontier Province together with a few smaller areas were included within the scope of the operations.

The following table presents the population of British India in 1911 with increase or decrease in previous censuses, area and number of districts :—

(a) Not available.

There are great local variations in density. In nearly two-thirds of the districts and States the number of persons to the square miles is less than 200, and in about a quarter it ranges from 200 to 500. The units with less than 100 persons to the square mile cover two-fifths of the total area but contain only one-eleventh of the population, while those with more than 500, though their area is only one-eleventh of the whole, contain one-third of the population. The two most densely populated provinces are Bengal with 578 and Oudh with 520 persons to the square mile. The nearest approach to this density is found in the feudatory states of the Madras Presidency including Travancore and Cochin with an average of 456 and in the province of Agra with 417 persons to the square mile. In the British districts of Madras the average is 291 and in all other British territories the average is much lower, being as small as 75 in Sind, 80 in Lower Burma and 52 in Upper Burma. In Kashmir the average falls to 37, the mountain ranges surrounding the valley being very sparsely inhabited.

Only 9·5 per cent of the population of India are found in towns, compared with 78·1 per cent in England and Wales. Rather more than half the urban population of India is found in towns containing upwards of 20,000 inhabitants about one-fifth in towns with from ten to twenty thousand, and the same proportion in those with from five to ten thousand ; the remainder, about one-fifth, live in towns with less than five thousand. The proportion of the urban to the total population in the main provinces ranges from 18 per cent in Bombay to 3 per cent in Assam.

The variation in the average number of persons per house is often much smaller than would be supposed. The average in Bengal and the United Provinces is 5·3 and 4·6 respectively as against 5·3 and 4·9 in Madras and the Central Provinces and Berar.

In India, as a whole, the proportion of females per 1,000 males rose steadily from 954 in 1881 to 963 in 1901. It has now again fallen to exactly the same figure as in 1881. The results for the whole empire are but little affected by migration but the reverse is the case when those for provinces are considered and still more so in the case of individual districts.

The age group 15-50 contains about half the total population of India and the proportions are apt to be disturbed by famine which affects chiefly the persons at the two extremes of life. Owing to the shorter lives of people of India the rate of mortality amongst those aged 50 and over is considered greater than that amongst those under 15.

The total number of Hindus in India is 217·6 millions or more than two-thirds of the whole population. In British territory the proportion is 67 and in the Native States 78 per cent. The Muhammadans number 66·6 millions or nearly one-fifth of the total population of India. There are 3,873,000 Christians in India or 12 per mille of the total population. The number of Hindus has increased since 1901 by 5 per cent while that of Muhammadans, Sikhs, and Buddhists has increased respectively by 7·37 and 13 per cent.

In India, it is extremely difficult to show the number of persons engaged in each occupation. This, however, is a difficulty which is not confined to India alone. In the United States and Germany it has been held that a population census cannot be expected to give the requisite information regarding occupation and that a comprehensive industrial survey obtained by detailed investigation and spread over a considerable time is to be preferred. In the report of the Census of England and Wales for 1891 it is said, "A census does not supply data which are suitable for minute classification or admit of profitable examination in detail. The most that it is reasonable to expect from data so collected is that they shall give the means of drawing such a picture of the occupational distribution of the people as shall be fairly true in its main lines, though little value can be attached to the detailed features. It is not wise to demand from a material a result for the production of which it is unsuited." In March 1901, the Times in treating of the approaching census gave some idea of the extent of the error: "The mere tabulation of such a mass of detail would obviously be a work of considerable magnitude even if all the descriptions were clear and unambiguous. But this is precisely what they are not. The difficulty is two-fold: a man engaged, say, in some mechanical pursuit, will naturally describe his occupation by the name under which it is known to him and his fellows without dreaming that the word used may be a technical one which is familiar to none except those following the same or closely allied occupations and which gives no indication in what broad branch of industry he is to be classed. For instance, the term "pig selector" might to the uninitiated seem to have an agricultural ring about it but as a fact the worker who is initiated to that designation is engaged in the iron and steam industry. Again "biscuit placers" have nothing to do with baking bread, nor have all "saddle makers" and "spur makers" any connection with the manufacture of harness for horses."

For the purposes of this section abstracts have been compiled from the occupation table of the Census Report for 1911, based on the new scheme of classification devised by Mons. Bertillon, showing the occupation of the population under certain main heads. The figures for 1901 have, as far as practicable, been brought on the lines of 1911. The statistics have been given in thousands.

India is an agricultural country and 72 per cent of the total population are engaged in pasture and agriculture. Occupations connected with the preparation and supply of material substances support 58·2 million persons or about 18 per cent of the population. The public administration and the liberal arts support 10·9 million persons or over 3 per cent of the population.

ADMINISTRATIVE DIVISIONS

For the purposes of administration, British India is divided into provinces varying greatly in area and population. The status and area of these provinces have been changed from time to time to meet altered conditions. The most recent of these changes were the creation of the North-West Frontier Province out of the Punjab in 1901; the reconstitution of the provinces of Bengal and Assam into the two provinces of Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam in 1905 and again into the three provinces of Bengal, Bihar and Orissa and Assam in 1912; and the formation of the province of Delhi out of the Punjab in 1912. At present there are eight large provinces, and seven lesser charges. The eight major provinces are the Presidencies of Bengal, Madras and Bombay; the Lieutenant-Governorships of the United Provinces, Bihar and Orissa, the Punjab, and Burma; and the Chief Commissionership of the Central Provinces. The minor provinces are Assam, the North-West Frontier Province, Ajmer-Merwara, Baluchistan, Coorg, Delhi, and the Andaman Islands. The statistics in this volume are grouped and classified according to the administrative divisions now existent in British India.

The administration of the following eleven provinces, and of the penal settlement of the Andaman Islands, is controlled by the Home Department of the Government of India:—

|---|---|
| Bengal. | Burma. |
| Madras. | Central Provinces and Berar. |
| Bombay, with Sind. | Assam. |
| United Provinces of Agra and Oudh. | Coorg. |
| Bihar and Orissa. | Delhi. |
| Punjab. | |

The remaining three provinces, viz., the North-West Frontier Province (formed in 1901 from the trans-Indus districts of the Punjab), Ajmer-Merwara and Baluchistan are controlled by the Foreign Department.

The three Presidencies of Bengal, Madras, and Bombay occupy a superior position. The administration of each is vested in a Governor who is assisted by an Executive Council composed of three members. There is also a Legislative Council in each.

Bihar and Orissa is administered by a Lieutenant-Governor with an Executive Council. The United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, the Punjab, and Burma, are administered by Lieutenant-Governors, without an Executive Council. In each of these provinces there is a Legislative Council.

The head of the administration in the Central Provinces (including Berar), in Assam, in the North-West Frontier Province, and in Delhi, is a Chief Commissioner; there are Legislative Councils in the Central Provinces and Assam, but the remaining two provinces have no local Legislative Council, and all laws for them, and for the other provinces (named below) in which there are no Councils, are made in the Council of the Governor General.

Baluchistan, Coorg, and Ajmer-Merwara are also administered by Chief Commissioners, the office being held ex-officio by members of the Political Service: by the Agent to the Governor General for Baluchistan, by the Resident in Mysore for Coorg, and by the Agent to the Governor General in Rajputana for Ajmer Merwara. The Andaman Islands constitute an ex-officio Chief Commissionership, held by the Superintendent of the penal settlement of Port Blair.

The administrative unit in all the provinces is the district. At its head is an officer commonly known as the district officer, who is officially styled either Collector and Magistrate or Deputy Commissioner. In every district is a number of sub-divisions, each in charge of an officer subordinate to the district officer. In all provinces, except Madras, a number of districts is grouped to form a Commissionership or Division, the officer in charge of the Division (Commissioner) having general control of the district officers and forming a link of communication between them and the Provincial Government. There were in 1913-14 in British India (excluding the Andaman Islands) 46 Divisions or Commissionerships, 271 Districts, and 1,103 Sub-Divisions of districts. These cover an area of 1,020,611 square miles and contain a population of 243,605,000 according to the census of 1911.

For details including the names of towns with population in excess of 50,000 table No. 3 of the section entitled "Area and Population" may be referred to.

POLICE

The district is the unit for police, as it is for executive and judicial administration. Each district has a force under the charge of a Superintendent aided by one or more Assistant Superintendents or Deputy Superintendents, and the police force of each province is under the control of an Inspector-General of Police aided by Deputy Inspectors-General. The total strength of the civil police force in 1913 was 917 officers of the rank of Deputy Superintendent or higher rank and 195,387 men and officers of lower rank than that of Deputy Superintendent. The total cost of this force was R5,93,55,575, of which R5,75,42,307 was payable from Imperial and Provincial revenues; the balance, R18,13,268 was paid from other funds and represents the cost of civil police employed in municipalities, cantonments, etc., and on railways.

Table No. 12 exhibits the facts relating to cognizable crime in British India. The Bengal Presidency with a population of 45,476,487 reported the largest number of cases (197,862) in 1913 against 190,154 in 1912, the Madras Presidency showed a numerical increase by reporting 180,091 cases against 178,727 and the United Provinces by 149,342 cases against 146,607 in the previous year. The actual number remaining for investigation depends to a large extent on the number of cases in which investigation was refused by the police, and the practice in this respect differs widely in different provinces. Thus in the United Provinces investigation was refused in 37 per cent of the cases reported in the year 1913, whereas in Madras investigation was refused in 2 per cent only, the average for the whole of British India being about 11 per cent. The general ratio of acquittals to convictions in cognizable cases for the whole of British India is about 1 to 12. The most noticeable deviations from this average are in Bengal where acquittals are at the rate of only 1 to 27 convictions, Bombay 1 to 19, Madras 1 to 14, and on the other side, Punjab 1 to 4, the Central Provinces and Berar and North-West Frontier Province 1 to 3.

In the case of non-cognizable crime which is dealt with in Table No. 13, the number of cases that were dismissed without trial or ended in discharge or acquittal (318,753) exceeds the number that ended in conviction (267,253), and of those that actually came to trial, some 400,600, nearly one-half ended in discharge or acquittal or conviction. In the Punjab the number of cases that came to trial and ended in discharge or acquittal is nearly double the number that ended in conviction; and the number that were dismissed without trial is greater than the other two classes put together. The result is that in this province out of 122,610 cases for disposal there were only 15,570 cases ending in conviction. In Bengal, on the other hand, out of 152,250 cases for disposal there were 45,831 cases ending in conviction. The proportion of non-cognizable cases dismissed without trial in Burma is far lower than in any other province.

Table No. 14 shows the number of cases in which theft of property was reported and the number of cases in which the property was recovered. Over the whole of British India the number of cases in which property was recovered was 34·5 per cent of the number of cases in which property was stolen, Assam (31 per cent), Bihar and Orissa (29·4 per cent), the United Provinces (27·3 per cent), Bengal (25·9 per cent), and Madras (32·5 per cent) are the only provinces which fall below the standard. The value of the property recovered was 22·1 per cent of the total value of property stolen in British India. Bombay with 35·7 per cent has much the best figure in respect of the larger provinces.

Table No. 15 shows the strength and cost of the civil police in all provinces. The proportion of superior officers, i.e., Inspectors-General and Deputy Inspectors-General, Superintendents and Assistant and Deputy Superintendents, to subordinate officers and men varies in the different provinces. The proportion for the whole of British India in 1913 was 1 superior officer to 213 inferior officers and men.

The proportion of superior officers to inferior officers and men is much larger in Burma than in any other province, being 1 to 124. At the opposite end of the scale stands Madras where the proportion is 1 to 287. In the Punjab it is 1 to 280, in the North-West Frontier Province it is 1 to 230, in the United Provinces, 1 to 236, in Bombay 1 to 264, in the Central Provinces and Berar 1 to 173 and in Bengal it is about 1 to 190.

The average total cost per man of the whole Civil Police force of British India (officers included) is R302 per annum. The cost is greatest in Burma, R397, and least in the United Provinces R247. The Punjab (R273), the Central Provinces and Berar (R297), the North-West Frontier Province (R269), Delhi (R298), Madras (R279), Bombay (R294) and Baluchistan (R259), are below the average for the whole of India. Bengal (R361), and Bihar and Orissa (R347) and Assam (R388) are above it.

The following table shows the number of cases of cognizable crime investigated by the police per 10,000 of the population, in each of the principal provinces:—

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Burma | 56 | Punjab | 32 |
| Madras | 44 | United Provinces | 21 |
| Bengal | 42 | Assam | 20 |
| Bombay | 39 | Bihar and Orissa | 16 |
| North-West Frontier Province | 33 | Central Provinces and Berar | 15 |

Table No. 16 deals with the equipment, discipline, and general internal management of the force. As regards armament, as might be expected, the police of Baluchistan, the North-West Frontier Province, and the Punajb are the most efficiently armed. In the North-West Frontier Province and Baluchistan there are nearly as many smooth-bores and rifles as men, and in the Punjab there is one smooth-bore for every two constables. In other provinces, roughly speaking, firearms are provided for about 1 in 3 men.

Dismissals from the force in India during 1913 were 1·2 per cent of the actual strength of men. This proportion was exceeded in the following provinces: North-West Frontier Province (2·3), Assam (2·1), Burma (1·8), Ajmer-Merwara (1·8), Central Provinces (1·7) and Bengal (1·3). In the United Provinces, Punjab and Delhi proportion was 1, in Madras and in Bihar and Orissa ·9, and in Bombay ·8 only. Departmental punishments numbered 14 per cent of the total force in British India. The departmental punishments to the total number of men in Assam was 29 per cent, in Madras 28, in Bengal 25 and in Bihar and Orissa 23. In the other provinces departmental punishments range from 2 to 12 per cent.

As regards education, more than half the police men in British India can read and write. In this respect the United Provinces and North-West Frontier Province are far worse off than any other province, for the number of men who can read and write is only 22 per cent of the total actual strength of men in 1913. In Madras, on the other hand, about 90 per cent of the men can read and write. The percentages in the other principal provinces are as follows:—

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Burma | 84 | Bengal | 48 |
| Bihar and Orissa | 54 | Assam | 34 |
| Bombay | 52 | Punjab | 34 |
| Central Provinces and Berar | 51 | Delhi | 31 |

In the United Provinces 29 per cent of the men have 10 years' service or more and only 21 per cent of men have less than 3 years' service. Burma on the other hand, has only 20 per cent of men with 10 years' service or more and has 44 per cent of men under 3 years' service.

Table No. 17 shows the strength and cost of the military police in British India. They are employed in Burma, Assam, Bihar and Orissa, Bengal, the North-West Frontier Province, and Baluchistan, and they numbered in 1913, 26,307 officers and men, of whom 16,367 or 62 per cent belonged to Burma. The total cost of this force amounted to R89,37,068, the cost in Burma being R57,73,059 or 65 per cent of the total.

Additional Police employed temporarily during 1913 have not been included in Table 15. Their number is small except in Bombay where they were entertained for plague and other extra duties, in Bengal, Bihar and Orissa and the Punjab where they were employed on special duty to prevent breaches of the peace, in Burma, where they were engaged mainly as punitive police, and in Madras, where 848 out of 1,016 were on plague duty. The following statement shows the additional police in the different provinces:—

| Provinces | Number of Inspectors-General and Deputy Inspectors-General | Number of Deputy Superintendents | Number of Inspectors | Number of Sub-Inspectors | Number of Sergeants | Number of Head Constables: Foot | Water | Mounted | Number of Constables: Foot | Water | Mounted | Total | Total cost payable from Imperial and Provincial revenues | Total cost payable from other sources than Imperial and Provincial | Grand total cost |

JAILS

The daily average population of prisoners (including civil debtors) in jails in 1914 was 108,181, of whom 95,260 were convicted prisoners, the others being under-trial and civil Prisoners. This average is higher than that of the preceding year by more than five per cent.

The convicts, classified according to religion, stood as follows :—

| | | 1914 | Percentage of Jail population | Percentage of free population (Census of 1911) |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Hindus and Sikhs | | 93,650 | 55·48 | 67·89 |
| Muhammadans | | 51,855 | 30·72 | 23·49 |
| Buddhists and Jains | | 16,891 | 10·01 | 4·55 |
| Christians :— | | | | |
| European | 244 | | ·14 | ·07 |
| Eurasian | 236 | 1,869 | ·14 | 1·11 ·04 | 1·02 |
| Indian | 1,389 | | ·82 | ·91 |
| Others | | 4,534 | 2·69 | 3·05 |

As usual the Muhammadan community contributed a disproportionately large number to the prison population. The provinces of Bengal and the Punjab, where there is a large Muhammadan population, accounted for 54 per cent of the convicted prisoners of that denomination; while Bombay and the United Provinces combined contributed 25 per cent. The most disproportionate criminality, however, is to be found amongst the Buddhists (almost entirely Burmese), they being 1 in 10 of the prison population, whereas, they are only 1 in 23 of the general population.

The European element in the Christian convict prison population is to be found chiefly in Bengal and Bombay and is in the main composed of soldiers and sea-faring men. Of the Eurasians convicted and confined in 1914, 57 per cent were in the prisons of Bengal, and 10 per cent in those of Madras.

As many as 141,649 (83·9 per cent) of the prisoners admitted were illiterate; of the rest 1,964 were able to read only, while 25,186 (14·9 per cent) were able both to read and write. The female prisoners were almost entirely illiterate, not more than 86 out of 6,100 being able to read and write, while 12 were able to read only.

The bulk of the male prisoners come from the rural labouring class, their occupations before imprisonment being described as "engaged in agriculture and cattle tending." There were 92,272 prisoners of this class in 1914 as compared with 85,734 in 1913 and 86,085 in 1912. The previous occupations of the other prisoners are thus described :—

| | 1912 | 1913 | 1914 |
|---|---|---|---|
| Domestic or personal service | 13,833 | 14,453 | 15,210 |
| Commerce and trade | 7,743 | 8,047 | 7,515 |
| Artisans and mechanics | 3,761 | 4,425 | 4,351 |
| Professional | 5,222 | 5,865 | 5,937 |
| Service of Government or local authorities | 3,393 | 3,668 | 3,611 |

Of the prisoners admitted in 1914 about one-fourth (43,685) were sentenced to terms not exceeding one month in duration; and 109,798, being 65 per cent of the whole, were sentenced to terms not exceeding six months. Of the new admissions 33,461 or 20 per cent had been previously convicted.

The number of prisoners who escaped during the year was 98, of whom 55 were recaptured, leaving 43 still at large. Of the prisoners who escaped in the previous ten years 13 were recaptured, but there remain 131 still at large.

The number of youthful offenders under 15 years of age admitted to jail during 1914 was 505 as against 626 in the preceding year. Madras, Bengal, and the United Provinces taken together account for some 54 per cent of the stated total, Madras singly contributing 24 per cent. One hundred of these juveniles had been previously convicted, the percentage to total number of prisoners of that class being 20 in 1914 as in the preceding year.

The recognition of the principle that a jail is no fitting place for adolescents (other than youthful habituals) who are over 15, and therefore ineligible for admission to the Reformatory School, has caused several local Governments to consider a scheme for segregating young adults between the ages of 16 and 23 from other prisoners on the lines followed in the Borstal prison near Chatham. One great advantage claimed is that every boy is taught a useful trade and is provided with work on release, and is thus less likely to relapse into criminal habits.

The system has been introduced in the provinces of Burma, Bengal, the United Provinces, Bihar and Orissa, the Punjab, the North-West Frontier Province, Bombay and Madras each of which has a Juvenile Jail. At these institutions great stress is laid on moral and religious instruction, a special feature is made of physical drill, but of course the essential part of the education is the training of the prisoners in handicrafts. Carpentry, black-smithing, shoe-making, tailoring and weaving are some of the handicrafts taught to these juvenile convicts. The system has been working very satisfactorily and that special attention is being paid to its improvement.

The number of offences committed by the convicts in jails during 1914 and the number of punishments inflicted on them were smaller than in the preceding year, and the percentage of offences to daily average population has also decreased from 200 per cent in 1913 to 185·2 in 1914. There was a decrease in the number of corporal punishments, from 361 in 1913 to 352 in the year under review.

The number of convicts released during the year, who gained remissions under the mark system, was 33,090, as compared with 31,437 in the preceding year; of these 8,936 belonged to the United Provinces and 5,612 to Burma.

In the daily average strength (108,181) of the prison population in 1914 the daily average of sick was 2,728 and there were 1,919 deaths in the year, against 1,567 in the preceding year, which represents a death rate of 1·77 per cent compared with 3 per cent for the free population.

The total cost of maintaining the prisons was R92,78,818, the principal items of expenditure being—

| | 1910 | 1911 | 1912 | 1913 | 1914 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | R | R | R | R | R |
| Dieting | 32,91,587 | 30,74,651 | 32,33,818 | 35,40,365 | 40,23,623 |
| Establishment | 27,59,745 | 28,90,269 | 29,94,930 | 30,01,987 | 30,65,853 |
| Clothing and bedding | 4,11,728 | 4,13,459 | 4,06,125 | 4,76,088 | 5,56,606 |
| Hospital charges | 3,80,152 | 3,40,577 | 3,25,708 | 3,82,787 | 4,14,972 |
| Moving prisoners | 2,26,336 | 2,39,044 | 2,36,545 | 2,48,561 | 2,60,450 |
| Sanitation | 1,50,464 | 1,50,302 | 1,50,494 | 1,60,001 | 1,78,580 |

Both the expenditure on dieting and the cost per head rose from R35,40,365 and R34·67 in 1913 to R40,23,623 and R37·29 respectively in 1914. The increase is chiefly accounted for by the rise in the prices of foodstuffs during the year. Against the total cost is to be set R16,47,768 earned by the prisoners, making the net cost to Government, in 1914, R76 lakhs compared with R63 lakhs (the lowest figure of the quinquennium). The chief remunerative industries are printing (including lithography), oil pressing, brick and tile making, carpentry and blacksmiths' work, carpet, durri, and blanket weaving, cloth and tent and paper making.

PORT BLAIR (PENAL SETTLEMENT)

The population of the Settlement of Port Blair in the year 1913-14 was made up of the administrative establishment numbering 1,357, a free resident population of 3,325, and a convict population of 11,927. The total population was 16,609 against 15,750 in 1912-13.

The revenue of the Settlement is divided between the heads "Land Revenue," "Forest" and "Other heads." Forest revenue is now R4,45,811 or more than half of the whole; against this amount has to be set a debit of R3,15,008 on account of "Forest Establishment and Supplies," leaving a net revenue of R1,30,803. The excess of expenditure over receipts in 1913-14 amounted to R11,69,311 as compared with R11,48,121 in 1912-13 and an average of R13,31,513 for the previous 8 years.

Eighty-five per cent of the convicts are under sentence for life. Sixty-nine per cent of the total number were sentenced for murder and fifteen per cent for dacoity.

The average annual number of escapes effected by male convicts in the last ten years is 50. The average annual number of recaptures is 36. There is thus an average of 14 who were not recaptured. The number of convicts who escaped in 1913-14 was 51 as compared with 49 in the previous year.

As regards religion, the convict population is classified under the heads Hindus, Muhammadans, Buddhists, and other religions. The proportions are Hindus 55 per cent, Muhammadans 27, Buddhists 16, and other religions 2. The proportion borne by each religion to the total population of British India is as follows :—

|---|---|
| Hindus | 68 |
| Muhammadans | 24 |
| Buddhists | 4 |
| Others | 4 |

The number of Buddhists is relatively very large, and this is in a measure due to the system under which long term Burmese prisoners are deported to the Settlement. In addition to these there are 44 Christian convicts, 42 being Indians and 2 Eurasians.

Classified according to their former occupation or state, the convict population is divided as follows :—

| | Per cent |
|---|---|
| Males— | |
| Agriculturists | 57 |
| Labourers | 13 |
| Artisans | 5 |
| Shopkeepers | 3 |
| Domestic servants | 5 |
| Government servants | 2 |
| Boatmen and fishermen | 1 |
| Others | 9 |
| Females | 5 |

The ratio of deaths per mille in 1913 was 25·3 as against 31·6 in 1912. This may be compared with the ratio of deaths per mille of the population of 15 years of age and over in the principal provinces of India which was :—

| | Per mille |
|---|---|
| Bombay | 19 |
| Madras | 17 |
| Bengal | 25 |
| Bihar and Orissa | 23 |
| United Provinces | 24 |
| Punjab | 18 |

REGISTRATION

The number of registrations affecting immovable property was 3,933,080 in 1913 as compared with 3,792,901 in the preceding year. The bulk of the instruments registered are documents relating to the sale, mortgage, or lease of immovable property, the registration of which is compulsory by law. This class (3,748,175) made up practically 95 per cent of the total in 1913; while optional registration affecting immovable property numbered 184,905 and represented the balance of 5 per cent. Besides these, there were 326,809 registrations affecting movable property as against 311,642 in 1912.

Mortgages from the largest class of instruments registered. In places where the Transfer of Property Act is in force, Act VI of 1904 rendered compulsory the registration of mortgages of a lower value than R100 which had previously been optional; and this change is chiefly responsible for the increase of the total number of mortgages in 1905. Fluctuations in other years depend to a very considerable extent on the harvests in the different provinces, a bad harvest usually causing a rise in the number of mortgages. The figures for the last ten years are as follows:—

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1904 | 1,002,626 | 1909 | 1,447,765 |
| 1905 | 1,080,930 | 1910 | 1,349,024 |
| 1906 | 1,212,533 | 1911 | 1,345,384 |
| 1907 | 1,284,935 | 1912 | 1,453,671 |
| 1908 | 1,410,152 | 1913 | 1,509,644 |

The increase in the total number of registrations of sales of immovable property from the year 1905 is due to the extension to Lower Burma of certain sections of the Transfer of Property Act, which require all sales of immovable property to be registered, except where there is actual delivery of property of a lower value than R100. Generally speaking, the number of registrations of sales fluctuates with the harvest in the same way as the number of mortgages. The figures for the last ten years for registrations of all sales of immovable property are as follows:—

| | Under R100 | Over R100 | | Under R100 | Over R100 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1904 | 492,555 | 472,560 | 1909 | 599,622 | 669,870 |
| 1905 | 518,697 | 500,578 | 1910 | 549,222 | 658,752 |
| 1906 | 580,304 | 572,946 | 1911 | 551,998 | 681,248 |
| 1907 | 573,610 | 606,066 | 1912 | 580,650 | 755,952 |
| 1908 | 596,266 | 638,238 | 1913 | 573,019 | 791,804 |

The value of immovable and movable property transferred in the same period has been:—

| | Movable | Immovable | | Movable | Immovable |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | R | R | | R | R |
| 1904 | 6,26,75,681 | 78,72,68,587 | 1909 | 7,20,30,451 | 1,05,06,38,707 |

Up to and including the year 1902 premia or fines paid on leases were included in the value of immovable property transferred, but owing to a revision of the forms, which made no special provision, as formerly, for the premia, they were omitted from the value of the property transferred in the years 1903 and 1904 in Bengal and the United Provinces. From 1905, however, they have again been included. The total value of the premia in 1913 was R1,60,41,332, Bengal contributing 53 per cent, Bihar and Orissa 17 per cent, the Central Provinces and Berar 15 per cent, Madras 8 per cent, Bombay and the United Provinces 3 per cent each.

The receipts of the Department in 1913 were R74 lakhs, and the charges R38 lakhs, or 51 per cent of the receipts. The following statement shows the percentage of the total receipts and charges contributed by the principal provinces and the ratio of expenditure to receipts:

| | Percentage of total receipts | Percentage of total expenditure | Ratio of expenditure to receipts |
|---|---|---|---|

PRESSES AND PUBLICATIONS

The following statistics show the growth in the number of printing presses and in their output in the 34 years ending 1913-14, with index numbers (the average of the 10 years 1901-02 to 1910-11 being taken as 100).

The number of Indian vernacular or classical books is about seven times as large as number of books printed in English or in other European languages.

The fertility of the Bengal presses is noticeable as regards the production of books (numbering 2,692 in 1913-14) which outnumber those produced in any other province. Madras stood second with 2,549, followed by Bombay, the United Provinces, and the Punjab with 1,917, 1,879, and 1,642, respectively. In the number of newspapers, Bengal stood first; Bombay and the Punjab stood second, followed by Madras, and the United Provinces. As compared with the figures for 1912-13, the number of newspapers published increased in all the provinces except the United Provinces and Ajmer-Merwara where there were numerical decreases of 31 and 1 respectively.

In the subjects of the books published in 1913 religion holds the first place, poetry and the drama being second:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Religion | 4,015 | Law | 548 |
| Poetry and drama | 2,271 | Medicine | 509 |
| Language | 1,711 | Mathematics and mechanics | 349 |
| Fiction | 833 | Philosophy | 218 |
| History (including geography) and biography | 567 | | |

The languages in which the books are written are extremely diverse. The following list states the number published in 1913 in the principal languages:—

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| English | 2,615 | Uriya | 433 |
| Bengali | 2,294 | Sindhi | 239 |

| Telugu | 971 | Assamese | 58 |
| Punjabi | 697 | Persian | 47 |
| Marathi | 683 | Pali | 35 |
| Sanskrit | 499 | | |

And smaller numbers in thirty-six other languages, besides 1,533 bilingual, 134 trilingual and 26 polyglot books.

The languages employed in the composition of bilingual publications of 1913 are mainly Sanskrit, English, Arabic, Bengali, Urdu, and Hindi, Sanskrit being in most common use:

EMIGRATION

The figures in these tables relate to indentured emigration carried on under the Indian Emigration Act (XXI of 1883 repealed by XVII of 1908) and rules framed thereunder relating to the emigration of natives of India. But certain persons who proceed to the colonies or other foreign countries without coming under the operation of the Emigration Act, as for instance, in the capacity of shop assistants or personal domestic servants, are included in the statistics. The figures take no account of the numbers who leave India as passengers under the Native Passenger Ships Act, nor of persons who leave India on pilgrimage to the holy places in Arabia under the Pilgrim Ships Act (of whom small but uncertain numbers settle out of India), nor of persons who go out of or come out to India by ship as ordinary passengers every year. Passengers under the Native Passenger Ships Act and pilgrims under the Pilgrim Ships Act are separately dealt with in the sections entitled "Passengers by Native Passenger Ships" and "Pilgrims by Pilgrim Ships" respectively. No statistics are available regarding ordinary passengers.

The number of "Emigrants" in the sense explained above, who left annually during the decennium 1904-05 to 1913-14, and the number of returned emigrants during the same period, amounted to—

| | Number emigrated | Number returned | Expressed in index numbers taking 1913-14 as equal to 100 | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | | | Emigrated | Returned |
| 1904-05 | 15,939 | 6,341 | 206 | 120 |
| 1905-06 | 21,125 | 6,945 | 273 | 131 |
| 1906-07 | 21,003 | 8,197 | 272 | 155 |
| 1907-08 | 15,117 | 6,774 | 195 | 128 |
| 1908-09 | 11,844 | 7,918 | 153 | 150 |
| 1909-10 | 11,644 | 6,909 | 151 | 131 |
| 1910-11 | 15,439 | 5,788 | 200 | 110 |
| 1911-12 | 14,192 | 6,299 | 184 | 119 |
| 1912-13 | 12,658 | 4,641 | 164 | 88 |
| 1913-14 | 7,733 | 5,284 | 100 | 100 |

The average annual number of emigrants for the decennium is 14,669 and the average number of emigrants that returned in that period is 6,510. Natal used to receive the largest number of emigrants, but emigration to that colony has been prohibited by the Government of India with effect from 1st July 1911. There has been no emigration to Mauritius since 1912, it having been decided by the Secretary of State for the Colonies, after consideration of the recommendations of the Committee on Emigration from India to the Crown Colonies, that the system of introducing Indian labourers into that Colony under indenture should be discontinued. In 1913-14, 2,491 emigrants left for Fiji, 1,773 for Dutch Guiana, 1,340 for Demerara, 1,140 for Trinidad, 505 for Mombasa and 294 for Jamaica. The emigration to Fiji was the largest during the last three years.

The ports at present used for the despatch of the emigrants are Calcutta, Madras, Bombay and Karachi. In 1913-14, 5,745 emigrants, or 74 per cent of the total number leaving India, were shipped from Calcutta. By far the greater part of these came from the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, which between them accounted for some 4,601. Demerara, Dutch Guiana, Fiji and Trinidad are the principal countries to which emigrants from Calcutta were sent. The number of coolies who left Madras was 1,293 or 17 per cent of the total, all for Fiji with the exception of 64 only for British Guiana. They were drawn from a large number of districts in Madras, the largest number being supplied by Malabar, North Arcot, and Godavari. For several years now the number of emigrants leaving India viâ Bombay has been insignificant. In 1913-14 the total number was only 258, of whom 171 went to Mombasa and 77 to the Persian Gulf Ports. Karachi appeared for the first time as an emigration port in the year 1897-98, when 330 emigrants were despatched to Mombasa for work on the Uganda Railway. In the three following years over 27,000 male labourers left Karachi for this purpose. Since then only a few artisans recruited for the Uganda Railway have left Karachi. The emigrants from Karachi come mainly from the Punjab and Sind.

The number of emigrants leaving in any one year appears to be based on the demand for labour rather than on any internal causes in India, for no close connection can be traced between the prices of food-grains in India or the birth-rate in the different provinces and the number of emigrants.

PASSENGERS BY NATIVE PASSENGER SHIPS.

Under the Native Passenger Ships Act (X of 1887) the term "Native Passenger Ships" is applied to sailing ships, which carry as passengers more than thirty natives of Asia or Africa, and to steam-ships carrying more than sixty such natives. Local Governments have discretionary power, with the sanction of the Governor-General in Council, to alter these numbers to fifteen and thirty, respectively.

A long voyage is defined in the Act as a voyage in which the ship will, in ordinary circumstances, be continuously out of port for one hundred and twenty hours or more and a short voyage as one in which the ship will not, in ordinary circumstances, be continuously out of port for one hundred and twenty hours. The space allotted to passengers, and some other conditions differ in a long and a short voyage.

The total number of persons who left Indian ports in native passenger ships, under the Act X of 1887, that is, who left as passengers, being neither emigrants to the Colonies or elsewhere nor pilgrims to the holy places in Arabia, was :

| | | Long Voyages | | Short Voyages | | Total |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | | In India | Out of India | In India | Out of India | |
| In the five years ending | 1895-96 | 97,558 | 134,830 | 5,831,522 | 347,216 | 6,411,126 |
| " " | 1900-01 | 88,450 | 190,476 | 5,790,712 | 643,401 | 6,713,039 |
| " " | 1905-06 | 138,477 | 213,426 | 7,465,262 | 804,523 | 8,621,688 |
| " " | 1910-11 | 196,291 | 102,206 | 10,225,721 | 1,187,440 | 11,713,660 |

The number in each of the last five years was :—

| | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1909-10 | 35,244 | 15,765 | 2,027,518 | 230,958 | 2,309,485 |
| 1910-11 | 43,605 | 19,913 | 2,263,199 | 265,866 | 2,592,583 |
| 1911-12 | 39,292 | 27,346 | 2,177,924 | 281,686 | 2,526,248 |
| 1912-13 | 47,034 | 26,349 | 2,192,725 | 327,888 | 2,593,996 |
| 1913-14 | 46,197 | 40,704 | 2,351,080 | 321,995 | 2,760,036 |

Of the total number of passengers (namely, 2,556,470) carried annually in the last five years, 97·3 per cent or nearly 2·5 millions, on an average were carried on short voyages and the remainder (68,302), or 2·7 per cent, on long voyages. About 12·2 per cent of the passengers voyaged to ports out of India, that is, approximately 312,000 on an average left India annually, and about 2¼ millions or 87·8 per cent moved within the limits of Indian waters.

Burma sends a large number of passengers on long voyage to the port of Madras and to Cocanada.

As regards short voyage movements, during the last five years, the bulk of the traffic (1,605,000) is between ports within the same province, and only 597,489 passengers emigrated from their own provinces in search of work in other provinces, and 285,679 left on short voyage to ports out of India. The improvement in wages for cooly labour in the Straits Settlements has attracted increasing numbers of emigrants from Madras in recent years.

The migrations from province to province are practically limited to voyages undertaken by coolies from Madras and Bengal to Burma for work as harvesters and in the rice-mills, and to the return voyages of these coolies at the end of the working season.

The numbers leaving Madras for Ceylon on short voyages, chiefly for employment in the tea plantations, vary according to seasonal conditions on the East Coast of the province. In 1913-14 the total reached 173,000. There has been a considerable increase in recent years in the number leaving Bombay and Karachi for the Persian Gulf on short voyages, owing to the facilities extended to the public by additional mail steamers running between these ports and the Gulf and vice versâ.

Of the total passengers (362,759), who went to places beyond India in 1913-14, both on long and short voyages, less than half went from the Madras Presidency to Ceylon (172,932) and less than a third to the straits Settlements (104,420), the bulk of the remainder going from Bombay and Karachi to the Persian Gulf (22,992), Mombasa (4,921), Zanzibar (2,979), and Aden (741), from Burma to the Straits Settlements (12,100) and Amoy (5,365), and from Bengal to the Straits (18,478).

PILGRIMS BY PILGRIM SHIPS

This table presents a record of the number of pilgrims who left, and of those who returned to, India during each of the ten years 1904-05 to 1913-14 under the provisions of the Pilgrim Ships Act, XIV of 1895. A pilgrim is defined in that Act as " a Muhammadan passenger going to, or returning from, the Hedjaz " and a pilgrim ship means " a ship conveying or about to convey pilgrims from or to any portion in British India to or from any port in the Red Sea other than Suez." Consequently the statistics presented, state the number of Muhammadans who left India by pilgrim ships on pilgrimage to the Hedjaz and of those who returned therefrom to India as passengers on board the pilgrim ships.

The bulk of the pilgrims sailing from India consists of Muhammadans from India, Afghans or Bokharis and Arabs forming a small proportion of the total.

The difference between the number who left and the number who returned to India, which appears from the table, is accounted for partly by death and partly by a section of the pilgrims, notably destitute pilgrims, either remaining in the Holy Places or returning to India either by land or in vessels other than pilgrim ships.

Pilgrimage from India was greatly restricted until the year 1903-04, owing to difficulties associated with the prevalence of plague, the principal ones being the hardships of quarantine before embarkation and the inaccessibility of Chittagong which was then the principal authorised port of embarkation. On the re-opening of the pilgrim camp at the port of Bombay in 1903, a strong spurt was given to the traffic.

The pilgrimage was heaviest in 1906-07. The principal causes that contributed towards this rush of pilgrims appear to be firstly, the abolition of quarantine at Bombay before embarkation, secondly, the keen competition between the three rival Companies' running steamers to Jeddah, namely; the British India, the Shah, and the Bombay-Persia Steam Navigation Companies, resulting in greatly reduced passage rates from Bombay to Jeddah, and lastly, the comparative safety of the roads leading from Jeddah to the Hedjaz.

JUDICIAL DIVISIONS

The highest legal tribunals in India are the High Courts of Judicature established by Royal Charter in Bengal including Assám), Bihar and Orissa (recently established); Madras, Bombay, and the Province of Agra. The Punjab and Burma have each a Chief Court, deriving its authority from the Indian Legislature. In other provinces, viz., the Central Provinces, Oudh, Upper Burma, Sind, North-West Frontier Province, Ajmer-Merwara and Coorg, there are one or more Judicial Commissioners appointed by the Government of India. These courts and officers are vested with full powers regarding the administration of civil and criminal justice in the territories under their respective jurisdiction. The Code of Criminal Procedure provides for the constitution of inferior criminal courts in each province, styled courts of Sessions and courts of Magistrates. Trials before courts of Sessions are conducted with the aid of assessors or jurors, according to the orders of the Local Government. Every province—outside a Presidency town—is divided into sessions divisions, consisting of one or more districts. Provision is also made for the appointment of honorary magistrates, for the formation of benches of magistrates, honorary or stipendiary, and for the appointment in the Presidency towns of Presidency Magistrates, to try minor offences. The constitution and jurisdiction of the inferior civil courts vary. Broadly speaking, one district Judge is appointed for each district. Next come the subordinate Judges and Munsifs, and there is in addition a number of courts of small causes.

For the purpose of the judicial administration of the country, the provinces are thus divided in a manner which corresponds closely to the executive divisions. The actual number of judicial officers is not ascertainable from the tables, but the number of officers of various degrees exercising jointly or severally civil and criminal jurisdiction was as follows in 1913 :—

| | | I Judges of Chief Court of Province | II Judges of other superior Courts to Chief District Courts | III Judges of Chief Courts of Districts | IV Judges of District Courts other than Chief Courts | V Judges of other Subordinate Courts | TOTAL |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Territory subject to High (or Chief) Courts | Civil | 56 | 30 | 149 | 324 | 1,126 | 1,685 |
| | Criminal | 56 | 71 | 189 | 351 | 5,237 | 5,904 |
| Territory subject to Judicial Commissioners | Civil | 11 | 11 | 71 | 113 | 432 | 638 |
| | Criminal | 11 | 46 | 59 | 212 | 973 | 1,301 |
| Territory not subject to High (or Chief) Courts or Judicial Commissioners | Civil | 6 | .. | 17 | 26 | 58 | 101 |
| | Criminal | 4 | .. | 17 | 22 | 175 | 218 |

The personnel of class V is mainly Indian, and there are many Indians amongst the judges of the superior courts, including the High Courts. In 1913 these officers decided 4,780,000 cases, classed as stated in the margin. Civil cases represented more than two thirds (70 per cent) of the whole number; regular civil cases formed 44 per cent, and 5 per cent of these were appeals. Criminal cases represented 30 per cent of the whole number, regular cases being 27 per cent, and in these the ratio of appeals was 6 per cent. The distribution of the civil original cases and the ratio to population was as follows, as regards the larger provinces :—

|---|---|
| Civil jurisdiction— | |
| Original cases | 3,228,000 |
| Appeals | 103,000 |
| Criminal jurisdiction— | |
| Original cases | 1,353,000 |
| Appeals | 96,000 |

| | 1913 | Ratio to population |
|---|---|---|
| Madras | 1,117,000 | 1 case in 37 persons |
| Bengal | 730,000 | 1 „ 62 „ |
| Bihar and Orissa | 213,000 | 1 „ 162 „ |
| United Provinces | 321,000 | 1 „ 147 „ |
| Bombay | 309,000 | 1 „ 64 „ |
| Punjab | 244,000 | 1 „ 82 „ |
| Central Provinces and Berar | 123,000 | 1 „ 113 „ |
| Burma | 71,000 | 1 „ 149 „ |
| Asam | 46,000 | 1 „ 146 „ |
| North-West Frontier Province | 35,000 | 1 „ 93 „ |

The receipts of the courts amounted in 1913 to R5,41,23,000, while the charges were R4,78,28,000. The average annual receipts in the five years ending 1913 were R5,19,21,000 and the charges R4,66,61,000.

CIVIL JUSTICE

The average number of suits instituted annually in the Civil Courts in the last five years is 2,067,096. The figure for 1913 is 2,070,188 as against 2,085,471 in 1912 and 2,043,407 in 1911.

Suits for money or movable property make up two-thirds of the total, and suits under the Rent Law are more than one-half of the remainder. The figures for 1913 with the percentage of each class are stated in the margin. Relatively to the population the province of Bengal appears to be the most litigious province in India, and the North-West Frontier Province and Madras come next. The United Provinces of Agra

| | 1913 | Percentage |
|---|---|---|
| For money or movable property | 1,384,475 | 66·9 |
| Under the Rent Law | 401,993 | 19·4 |
| On mortgages | 88,924 | 4·3 |
| For immovable property | 133,842 | 6·5 |
| For specific relief | 23,826 | 1·1 |
| Others | 37,128 | 1·8 |

and Oudh are the least litigious of all. The marginal table shows the total number of suits instituted and the proportion of suits per 1,000 of the population in each province in 1913. The proportion which each class of suit bears to the total number instituted varies very widely in different provinces. Thus in Burma suits for money or movable property are 88 per cent of the total number, whereas in Bengal the proportion is nearly 45 per cent. On the other hand, suits under the Rent Law are 44 per cent of the total number instituted in Bengal.

| | Number | Per 1,000, of population |
|---|---|---|
| Bengal | 646,329 | 14·2 |
| North-West Frontier Province | 26,968 | 12·3 |
| Madras | 458,179 | 11·1 |
| Punjab | 191,702 | 9·6 |
| Bombay | 153,452 | 7·8 |
| Central Provinces and Berar | 100,200 | 7·2 |
| Assam | 42,727 | 6·4 |
| Bihar and Orissa | 185,480 | 5·4 |
| Burma | 63,707 | 5·3 |
| United Provinces | 180,942 | 3·8 |

The suits instituted in 1913 involved a money value of R42,38,31,151. Fifty-five per cent of the total number of suits ihstituted were for amounts not exceeding R50, and 95 per cent of the whole number were for sums not exceeding R500. The number of suits included in the total which were tried in the Courts of small Causes amounted to 278,400. The proportion of cases tried by Small Cause Courts in the different provinces varies very largely. The greatest number of suits instituted in these Courts was in the United Provinces where the total was 89,164. This represents nearly 61 per cent of all the suits instituted for money or movable property in the province. In Bombay the percentage is 35, in Bengal it is 14; but in the Punjab only 8 per cent of the total number of suits for money or movable property were instituted in Small Cause Courts. The number and value of the suits instituted in 1913 together with the proportion which each class bears to the total are stated below :—

| | Number | Percentage |
|---|---|---|
| Value not exceeding R10 | 289,745 | 14·0 |
| „ above R10 and not exceeding R50 | 851,323 | 41·1 |

Of the total number of suits disposed of in the course of 1913 some 25 per cent were contested. The marginal table shows the manner in which the total number of suits was disposed of in 1913. Thus nearl y 83 per cent of the total number of suits disposed of during the year came to trial, and the result indicates that the proportion of unjustified litigation is not high. The decision went entirely in favour of the defendant either by dismissal ex parte or by arbitration or by judgment for the defendant, in nearly 7 per cent of the total number of suits disposed of. The plaintiff, on the other hand, got a decree either in whole or in part, or a compromise in nearly 76 per cent of the total number of suits disposed of. The result of the cases which came to trial and were disposed of during 1913 is as follows :—

| | Number | Percentage to Total |
|---|---|---|
| Without trial | 346,450 | 17·4 |
| Without contest | 1,137,334 | 57·1 |
| Arbitration | 9,159 | ·5 |
| With contest | 499,585 | 25·1 |

| | Number | Percentage to total number of suits disposed of |
|---|---|---|
| Compromised | 259,510 | 13·02 |
| Decreed on confession | 123,291 | 6·2 |
| „ ex parte | 739,514 | 37·1 |
| Arbitration for plaintiff | 7,069 | ·4 |
| Judgment in favour of plaintiff | 383,498 | 19·2 |
| Dismissed ex parte | 15,019 | ·8 |
| Arbitration for defendant | 2,090 | ·1 |
| Judgment in favour of defendant | 116,087 | 5·8 |

Nearly eighty-two per cent of the appeals preferred were contested, the remainder being summarily dismissed under Section 551 or dismissed for default or heard ex parte. The result of the appeals was to modify or reverse the decree in 27 per cent of the total number of cases; the appeals were dismissed or the decrees confirmed in nearly 67 per cent. The remainder of the appeals, 6 per cent was remanded to lower Courts.

The average duration of suits varies much from year to year and in each province. For example, the average in Bombay during 1913 for contested cases was 211 days and for uncontested cases 95 days, while in the North-West Frontier Province the figures were 46 and 24 respectively. The duration of regluar appeals from decrees is much greater. The average number of days during which these appeals lasted in 1913 was 341 in Madras, 343 in Bombay, 238 in Bengal and 243 in Assam.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE.

The number of offences reported in 1913 was 1,658,405 in a population amounting to 243,606,979. Of this number 1,381,446 cases were returned as true and 1,242,282 were brought to trial. The number of persons concerned amounted to 2,097,997. Of these 1,036,777 were acquitted or discharged and 983,067 convicted the others having died, escaped or remained untried at the end of the year.

The statistics for the year under review continue to show a marked increase in criminality. In 1899 the number of total convictions recorded was 884,330, or 38 per 10,000 of the population; in 1904 the figures were 837,388, or 36 per 10,000; in 1908 the figures stood at 854,709 or 37 per 10,000; in 1913 the convictions had increased to 983,067 or 40 per 10,000.

Testing the relative criminality of the different regions of India by the number of persons convicted, the results are as follows:—

| | Number | Number per 10,000 of population |
|---|---|---|
| Burma | 106,173 | 100 |
| North-West Frontier Province | 15,768 | 51 |
| Bombay | 123,572 | 63 |
| Madras | 245,666 | 59 |
| Bengal | 200,211 | 44 |
| Punjab | 69,357 | 35 |
| United Provinces | 119,771 | 25 |
| Assam | 15,064 | 22 |
| Central Provinces and Berar | 21,848 | 16 |
| Bihar and Orissa | 50,501 | 15 |

Of the total number (983,067) of persons convicted in 1913 nearly three-fourths—712,397—were convicted for offences under special and local laws such as, Cruelty to Animals Acts, Hackney Carriages Act, Municipalities Acts, Police (town) Acts, Press Acts, Railways Acts, Registration of Births and Deaths Acts and various other minor Acts. Of the remainder (270,670) more than a half belonged to the principal categories noted in the margin. The following tabular statement shows the number of persons convicted for certain serious crimes, province by province:—

|---|---|
| Affecting life | 5,837 |
| Inflicting hurt | 42,914 |
| Criminal force and assault | 16,655 |
| Theft | 60,934 |
| Robbery and Dacoity | 4,017 |
| Criminal trespass | 26,494 |
| Total | 156,851 |

| North-West Frontier Province | 163 | 4 | 426 | 1,613 | 134 | 504 | 162 | 479 |

The punishments inflicted on the persons tried by the Courts in 1913 were:

|---|---|
| Death | 633 |
| Transportation | 2,078 |
| Rigorous imprisonment | 132,399 |
| Simple „ | 18,118 |
| Fine | 768,473 |
| Whipping | 9,416 |

The amount of fines imposed during 1913 was R68,98,443 of which 86 per cent (R59,50,714) was realised besides R4,76,993 paid by way of compensation.

Appeals were lodged in 1913 by 205,546 persons against the decision in their cases, and the appeals were rejected or sentences confirmed in the case of 136,467 persons, being 66 per cent of the whole. The sentences were reversed or the proceedings quashed in the case of 27,673 persons, being 13 per cent of the whole, while in the case of 10,552 persons a new trial was ordered, and the sentences on 14,629 persons were reduced or otherwise altered. Sentences in the case of 428 persons only were enhanced by the higher Courts. The cases of 2,149 persons were referred for revision to the High Courts and the cases of 13,511 appellants remained pending trial at the end of the year.

MEDICO-LEGAL INVESTIGATIONS

The Government Chemical Examiners are largely employed in the analyses required for the detection of poison administered to human beings and to animals. There were 3,107 such cases, in which human beings were supposed to have been poisoned, referred to them in 1913, the average number in the last five years being 2,894. Poison was detected in 1,615 cases or about 52 per cent. Bengal and the Punjab are the two provinces in which such cases occur (or are reported) most frequently, as will be seen from the figures for 1912 and 1913 appended:

| | 1912 | 1913 |
|---|---|---|
| Bengal (including Bihar and Orissa and Assam) | 558 | 524 |
| Punjab | 489 | 478 |
| United and Central Provinces | 139 | 232 |
| Bombay | 109 | 128 |
| Burma | 188 | 118 |
| Madras | 122 | 97 |
| North-West Frontier Province | 57 | 38 |

Arsenic is the poison most commonly employed. The articles in which this poison was detected numbered 1,707 in 1913, other inorganic poisons being used with relative infrequency. Of organic poisons, the favourite is opium which was detected in 921 articles, but it is mainly used by suicides. Datura and aconite follow next, with 292 and 83 articles respectively; but the use of datura as a poison, with disabling, not necessarily with murderous intent, is much more common than is indicated by the number of cases referred to the Chemical Examiners. Opium is most largely employed in the Punjab, Bengal, and the United Provinces, while cases in which datura is the agent are rare except in the Punjab, the United Provinces, and Burma. Mercury comes next after arsenic in Madras and it is also largely resorted to in the Punjab and Bengal. Strychnine was detected in 51 articles in 1913.

Of animal-poisoning there were 1,011 cases in 1913, an increase of 88 compared with the preceding year's figures. Poison was detected in 654 cases or about 65 per cent. Arsenic is the agent almost always employed for cattle-poisoning.

MUNICIPALITIES

The system of Municipal administration, as it now exists in British India, is an exotic institution, and for the most part of comparatively recent introduction. It had a much earlier origin in the Presidency towns than in the interior of the country. In 1687 the East India Company established a corporation and mayor's court in Madras with a mayor, aldermen and burgesses who were empowered to levy taxes for the interest, security and defence of the corporation and inhabitants, etc. The people, however, strenuously resisted the imposition of anything in the nature of a direct tax and the mayor had to ask for permission to levy an octroi duty on certain articles of consumption that he might provide the necessary funds for cleaning the streets. In 1726 a mayor's court, with aldermen but no burgesses, was established in each of the three Presidency towns, mainly according to the practice already existing in Madras; but these courts were intended to exercise judicial rather than administrative functions. The first statutory enforcement of Municipal administration is contained in the Charter Act of 1793. This Act empowered the Governor-General to appoint justices of the peace for the Presidency towns from among the company's servants and other British inhabitants. In addition to their judicial duties the justices of the peace were expressly authorised to provide for scavenging, watching, and repairing the streets, the expenditure on which was to be defrayed by an assessment on houses and lands. Between 1840 and 1853 the municipal constitutions were widened, and the elective principle was introduced to a very limited extent; but in 1856 a different policy prevailed, and all municipal functions were concentrated in a body corporate consisting of three nominated and salaried members. After the passing of the Councils Act in 1861 the system of municipal Government was remodelled by the local legislatures; and from this point onwards the history in each Presidency town is different, and leads through a series of Acts to those now in force, namely, the Bombay Act of 1888, the Calcutta Act of 1899, and the Madras Act of 1904. The system of election of representatives by the ratepayers was first established in Bombay, Calcutta, and Madras by Acts passed in the years 1872, 1876, and 1878, respectively.

Outside the Presidency towns there was practically no attempt at municipal legislation before 1842. In that year an Act was passed, applicable only to Bengal, to enable the inhabitants of any place of public resort or residence to make better provision for purposes connected with public health and convenience. This Act was far in advance of the times. Based on the voluntary principle, it could take effect in no place except on the application of two-thirds of the house-holders, and as the taxation enforcible under it was of a direct character the law nowhere met with poplur acceptance. The next attempt at municipal legislation for country towns was made in 1850 by an Act which applied to the whole of British India. This Act was also permissive in its nature, but it was more workable than its predecessor, and, unlike it, made provision for taxation by indirect methods. The Report of the Royal Army Sanitary Commission published in 1863 directed prominent attention to the unhealthy condition of towns. The need for more extensive municipal measures was recognised, and various Acts were passed in the different provinces between 1864 and 1868 providing for the appointment of Commissioners to manage municipal affairs and authorising the levy of various taxes. As a measure of local self-government these Acts did not proceed far, but they were of great service in improving the sanitary condition of the towns. Lord Mayo's Government, however, passed new Municipal Acts for Madras in 1871, for Bombay, Bengal, the North-Western Provinces, the Punjab and the Central Provinces in 1873, and for Burma in 1874. These Acts widened the sphere of municipal usefulness and extended the elective principle. The election was not, however, brought into practical operation in many places, and the Central Provinces was the only portion of India in which popular representation was generally and successfully introduced. Matters stood thus, when, in 1881-82, the Government of Lord Ripon issued orders which had the effect of greatly extending the principle of local self-government. The principles laid down in these orders govern the administration of municipalities to the present day.

Municipal functions are classified under the heads of public safety, health, convenience, and instruction. In order that these functions may be carried out, various powers are conferred on Municipal Committees by the Municipal Acts and the by-laws framed under them.

About two-thirds of the aggregate municipal income is derived from taxation, and the remainder from Municipal property and powers other than taxation, contributions from Provincial revenues and miscellaneous sources. The principal heads of taxation are octroi; taxes on houses and lands, animals and vehicles, and professions and trades; tolls on roads and ferries; and water, lighting, and conservancy rates. Other items of revenue are proceeds of municipal lands and buildings, conservancy receipts (other than the rate), educational and medical fees, receipts from markets and slaughter houses, and interest on investments.

The expenditure on the Municipalities cannot always be met from ordinary revenues which are often small except in the Presidency towns. In order to carry out large projects such as water-supply, drainage, etc., the municipalities have therefore generally to borrow money either from the Government or in the open market on the security of their funds. But Municipalities have in general been unable to obtain money in the market on reasonable terms and their borrowings have been almost entirely from Government. Under the arrangements now in force Local Governments have a loan account with the Imperial Treasury on which they pay interest at the rate of 3½ per cent. From the balance of this account they advance municipal and other loans at a rate of interest which may not be less than 4 per cent. The period of repayment, may not exceed twenty years except under very special circumstances, and may in no case exceed thirty.

The number of Municipalities with their total income and expenditure (in lakhs of rupees) in each of the provinces in British India in 1913-14 are stated in the margin. There were altogether 713 Municipalities in British India in the year 1913-14, containing a total resident population of more than 17 million people within their limits. This figure represents 7 per cent of the total population of British India. Of the stated Municipalities 521 had a population of less than 20,000 and the remaining 192, a population of over 20,000. So far as major provinces are concerned, the population resident within Municipal limits as compared with the total population of the Province is largest in Bombay, where it amounts to 17 per cent. Excluding British Baluchistan, this percentage is lowest in Assam where it amounts to only 2 per cent. In the other Provinces the population within Municipal limits varies from 3 to 9 per cent of the total population. The average size of the Municipalities, according to population, varies in the principal Provinces from about 7,000 in Assam to nearly 42,000 in Madras. In the Central Provinces and Berar and the Punjab the averages are 16,000 in both cases. In Bombay and Burma it is 21,000. In Bengal it is 25,000 and in the United Provinces 35,000.

Elected members are more than one half (52 per cent) of the total number of members in all Municipalities taken together. Ex-officio members are 14 per cent and nominated members 34 per cent. Elected members are in a majority in the cities of Bombay, Madras, and Rangoon, and in the Municipalities of Bengal (excluding Calcutta), the United Provinces, Bihar and Orissa and the Central Provinces and Berar. They are 59 per cent in Calcutta. There are no elected members in the Municipalities of the North-West Frontier Province and British Baluchistan; and they number only 17 per cent of the total number of members of the Municipalities in Burma (excluding Rangoon) and 31 per cent in Assam. In these places nominated members constitute a majority. The non-officials outnumber the officials in all Municipalities taken together in the proportion of nearly 4 to 1. The preponderance is greatest in the city of Calcutta where 94 per cent of the members are non-officials. Nearly eighty eight per cent of the members of all Municipalities taken together are Indians. Indians outnumber Europeans in all cases except in Rangoon where they represent 48 per cent. In the Punjab, and in the Municipalities of Bombay (excluding Bombay city), more than 90 per cent of the total number of members are Indians.

Generally speaking, the income of the Municipalities is small. The four cities—Calcutta, Bombay, Madras, and Rangoon—together provide nearly 37 per cent of the total income (i.e., excluding receipts credited to the head "Extraordinary and Debt") of ₹8,71,00,000. Of the others only 16 have an annual income of over ₹5,00,000. The average income of all Municipalities other than the four mentioned above is only ₹77,268. It is highest in North-West Frontier Province (₹1,29,000) and lowest in Assam (₹28,000). The proceeds of the principal heads of revenue for all Municipalities taken together and the percentage borne by each principal head to the total income are shown below :

| | Income (in lakhs of rupees) | Percentage to total incom |
|---|---|---|

Octroi is the chief source of income in the North-West Frontier Province, the Punjab, Delhi, the United Provinces, the Central Provinces and Berar, and Bombay (excluding Bombay city). The percentage borne by it to the total income of the Municipalities of the province is given in the margin. Octroi is also levied in Bombay city where it contributed 17 per cent of the total income. It is not levied elsewhere except in the Sambalpur District which at one time belonged to the Central Provinces but now forms part of the new province of Bihar and Orissa. In Bengal, Madras, Assam, and in the four cities of Calcutta, Bombay, Rangoon, and Madras, other Municipal rates and taxes, the most important of which is the tax on houses and lands, provide the greater part of the total Municipal income. In Burma, excluding Rangoon, nearly half the total income is derived from Municipal property, chiefly markets and slaughter houses. The general incidence of taxation per head of the population of the municipal area was R3·18 in 1913-14, but it varies greatly in different areas, thus :—

The total expenditure of the Municipalities, excluding that debited to the head "Extraordinary and Debt," amounted to R8,77,00,000 in 1913-14. The following table shows what percentage of the total expenditure is debited to the principal heads in the chief Provinces :

Notified Areas

In the Punjab, Delhi, the United Provinces, Burma, Bombay, the Central Provinces and Berar and the North-West Frontier Province certain provisions of the Municipal Acts are extended to small towns, which are not fitted for the full responsibilities of the Municipal Government but which nevertheless require organised measures for sanitation and other purposes. These are described as "Notified Areas," and under the Acts providing for their constitution, each area must contain a town or bazar, must not be a purely agricultural village and must not have a population exceeding 10,000. The statistics relating to these areas are not included in the tables. The number of Notified Areas and their total income and expenditure in 1913-14 are shown below:

| | Number of Notified Areas | Income | Expenditure |

DISTRICT AND LOCAL BOARDS

The duties and functions assigned to the municipalities in urban areas are assigned to the Boards in rural areas. These Boards operate under the sanction of the legislature (given in or about 1884), in every province except Burma. In each district there is a Board, subordinate to which are two or more local Boards, and in Bengal and Madras there are also Union Committees or Panchayats. The working of the Boards during the year under review was on the whole satisfactory except in Bengal, where the local bodies appear to have failed to make full use of their resources in spite of their enhanced powers and greater freedom from control. In Madras, the administration of both the Boards and the Panchayats was generally satisfactory. In the United Provinces the dominating feature of the year in every department of the boards' activities was the greatest increase in their income, the three chief spending services of the boards were Education, Medical and Roads. In Bihar and Orissa, the Boards continued to do practical and useful work generally; the income under the Provincial Rates showed an abnormal increase, the chief items of expenditure were under Public Works, Education and Medical. In the Punjab, there seems to be a growing tendency on the part of the members to interest themselves more than before in the duties of their position; the reports on the working of the Boards are for the most part encouraging. In the Central Provinces and Berar the year witnessed an increase in the activities of the Local Bodies in various directions due to the grants made by Government for special purposes and the establishment of the Divisional Local Fund Engineer Scheme. In Assam great interest was evinced by members of the Boards generally and they did their utmost to utilise the increased resources to the best advantage. In the North-West Frontier Province the working of the District Boards appears satisfactory on the whole and the system of delegating powers to sub-committees is reported to have worked well.

Table No. 68 shows the number and constitution of the Boards. There are in India 199 District Boards and 537 Local Boards subordinate to them. There are also 461 Union Committees, 395 in Madras and 66 in Bengal. The population of the tracts over which the Boards have jurisdiction was over 215 millions in 1913-14, according to the local reports. Excluding the Union Committees, to which the elective principle has not been applied, the members of the Boards numbered 16,862 in 1913-14, of whom 6,291, being about 37 per cent, were elected. The others were either nominated or ex-officio members (8,034 of the former and 2,537 of the latter), and of these the largest numbers in proportion to the total number of members are on the Boards of the North-West Frontier Province, Delhi, Coorg, Bihar and Orissa and Madras. The elected members in Madras number 1,055 out of a total membership 6,149 for District Boards, Local Boards and Union Panchayats. In the North-West Frontier Province and Delhi there are no elected members. In the Central Provinces, the United Provinces, and Assam elected members have a substantial majority. The percentage of elected members of District and Local Boards to the whole number in the principal provinces is as shown in margin. The average for all these provinces is 47 per cent. The Boards are practically manned by Indians who constitute 93 per cent of the whole, numbering 15,684 as compared with only 1,167 Europeans and Eurasians. Twenty-three per cent of the total number of members of all Boards are Government officials.

Table No. 69 gives details of the income of the Boards. Apart from the items which are classed under the general head of "Debt"—some of which are merely entries of account—the total income of the Boards in 1913-14 amounted to R737 lakhs against R569 lakhs in the preceding year. The average income of each District Board together with its subordinate Local Boards was R3,93,867. The 19 Local Boards in Assam (where there are no District Boards) had an average income of R1,68,956 each. The Union Committees of Bengal had an average income of R1,029 and the Union Panchayats of Madras had an average income of R2,599 each.

The most important item of revenue is provincial rates, which represent a proportion varying from 26 per cent in Assam to 64 per cent in Bihar and Orissa of the total income of the Boards. The following table shews the percentage of each principal source of revenue in the chief provinces :—

| | Provincial rates | Police | Education | Civil Works |

Table No. 70 gives details of the expenditure of the Boards. The expenditure of the Boards, omitting, as in the case of revenue, all items classed under "Debt" was R613 lakhs as against R535 lakhs in the previous year. R330 lakhs, as against R284 lakhs in the previous year, were spent on the constructon and maintenance of public works, such as roads and bridges. The other principal objects of expenditure were :—Education R154 lakhs: Medical R59 lakhs, chiefly on hospitals and dispensaries and vaccination. The following table shews for each of the principal provinces what percentage of the total expenditure is devoted to each of the main heads :—

PORT TRUSTS

The administration of the affairs of the larger ports is vested by law in bodies, specially constituted for the purpose, called Port Trusts. These Trusts exist in Calcutta, Bombay, Madras, Karachi, Rangoon, Chittagong, and Aden. They have wide powers, but their proceedings are subject in a greater degree than those of municipal bodies to the control of Government. These bodies are charged with the provision of suitable dock-accommodation and other necessary services to shipping. A chairman is appointed by Government, but a large proportion of the members represent the commercial communities interested in the port, who are, except in Aden, elected by Chambers of Commerce or similar bodies. In Calcutta, Bombay, Rangoon, Madras, and Karachi, the municipality is also represented. The revenues which the Port Trusts administer are mainly derived from dues on shipping and goods, and from fees for services rendered. The Trusts are empowered to raise funds by loan to meet capital expenditure.

Table No. 71 shows the constitution, the total income, expenditure, and capital debt of each of the six Port Trusts dealt with in these statistics. [Aden is not dealt with in these tables.]

| | Number of members. | Income | Expenditure | Capital debt. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | | (Lakhs of rupees.) | | |
| Calcutta | 16 | 151·3 | 156·6 | 918·9 |
| Bombay | 16 | 101·8 | 85·3 | 1,296·6 |
| Madras | 12 | 27·3 | 27·5 | 92·6 |
| Karachi | 11 | 51·1 | 38·1 | 228·6 |
| Rangoon | 13 | 51·8 | 37·0 | 267·9 |
| Chittagong | 9 | 3·9 | 2·9 | 5·7 |

The total figures for 1913-14 are shown in the margin. Except in Calcutta, the elected members are fewer in number than the nominated members. Non-official members out-number official members at all the ports. At all the ports the European members constitute the majority, and the Trust for Rangoon consists wholly of European members.

Details of the income of each port are given in Table No. 72 and those of expenditure in Table No. 73. The marginal table shows the ratios borne by the income and the expenditure of each port to the total income and the total expenditure, respectively, of all the ports. The total income and expenditure of the six ports amounted to R734·66 lakhs in 1913-14 against R666·42 lakhs in 1912-13, of which 67·4 per cent stands against

| | Income per cent. | Expenditure per cent. |
|---|---|---|
| Calcutta | 39·1 | 45·1 |
| Bombay | 26·3 | 24·6 |

| Rangoon | 13·4 | 10·7 |
| Chittagong | 1·0 | ·8 |

Calcutta and Bombay (combined), this proportion corresponding fairly to the proportion of the maritime trade which centres in those two ports. In the ten years ending 1913-14, the income and expenditure of each port have increased as shown in the margin. The total income of all the ports has increased in the decade by 76·9 per cent and the total expenditure by 83·9 per cent.

| | Increase per cent. | |

| | Income | Expendture |
| Calcutta | 70·2 | 90·2 |

| Karachi | 73·2 | 98·8 |
| Rangoon | 135·6 | 133·7 |
| Chittagong | 199·1 | 266·7 |

The total capital debt of the Trusts at the end of 1913-14 was about R2,810·3 lakhs, against R2,642·4 lakhs in 1912-13, of which 32·7 per cent represented the debt of Calcutta, 46·2 per cent of Bombay, 3·3 per cent of Madras, 8·1 per cent of Karachi, 9·5 per cent of Rangoon, and ·2 per cent of Chittagong.

* These tables are compiled from the latest Census Tables and revised every year by all the local Governments and Administrations, who also supply the figures of land revenue and rates for Table No. 3

(a) The figures given are the revised figures for the Presidency of Bengal as constituted on the 1st April 1912

(b) Exclude figures for Manipur which are not available

(c) After the census of 1901 was taken, part of the territory of the Punjab was organised as a separate province (North-West Frontier Province)

(d) The figures of the Baluchistan Census of 1891 are entirely imperfect, representing only a rough enumeration of certain-selected areas. They do not admit of comparison with the figures of 1901 and 1911

(e) Berar was amalgamated for administrative purposes with the Central Provinces from October 1903

(f) Specially administered territories comprising Shan States, Pakokku Hill Tracts and Chin Hills

(g) Excluding Baluchistan

(h) The figures for Bihar and Orissa for 1891 have been calculated by deducting the revised figures for the Bengal Presidency as constituted in 1912 from the figures for Old Bengal as it existed before the partition of 1905

*Compiled from statistics supplied by local Governments and Administrations

(a) For calendar year

(b) The increase is due to the fact that for years prior to 1910-11 this column showed only publications containing "news o comments on public news," but from 1910-11 it includes periodical publications of every description

(c) Includes Eastern Bengal districts up to 1910-11

(d) Includes Bihar and Orissa and excludes Eastern Bengal districts up to 1910-11

* Compiled from special returns supplied by the Collectors of Customs, Bombay, Chittagong, and the Port Officer, Karachi

† The ports for the embarkation and debarkation of pilgrims are appointed by Local Governments. At present Bombay and Karachi are the only two authorised ports. From the year 1896, the year the Act came into force, to January 1903, Chittagong was the principal port of embarkation Bombay having been withdrawn from the list of appointed ports owing to the prevalence of plague. In 1903 Bombay was thrown open to pilgrim traffic and from that year the entire outward pilgrim traffic has concentrated itself at the port of Bombay. For the first time since 1902-03, some 210 pilgrims sailed from Karachi viâ Bombay, during 1912-13

(a) Includes Eastern Bengal Boards up to 1910-11

(b) Includes Bihar and Orissa and excludes Eastern Bengal Boards up to 1910-11

(c) Grants to aided schools were paid direct from Provincial funds in 1909-10 instead of through Local Boards as before

(d) Figures not available

NOTE.—Up to the year 1909-10 contributions payable from Imperial or Provincial Funds were shown in lump except in Bengal where contributions from provincial revenues were adjusted in 1909-10 under the appropriate heads to which the sums so paid were devoted. From 1910-11 they are shown by all provinces as receipts under the head which is most appropriate to the nature of the contribution in accordance with the orders of the Government of India

Local Self-Government Policy of the Government of India.

Resolution of the Government of India, Department of Education, Municipalities, Nos. 55-77, dated the 28th April 1915.

Historical retrospect.

Local self-government as a conscious process of administrative devolution and political education dates outside presidency towns, from the financial reforms of Lord Mayo's government. Consultative committees had indeed been appointed in various towns in 1850, and measures were taken in 1864 and following years, to give effect to the recommendations of the report of the Royal Army Sanitary Commission, which was published in 1863, but no comprehensive scheme was introduced until the years following 1870. Legislation affecting several provinces was then undertaken. Lord Ripon's government in 1882 carried still further the principles of local self-government with the object, by measures cautiously but substantially progressive, of inducing the people themselves to undertake, as far as might be and subject to necessary control from without the management of their own local affairs, and of developing and creating if need be, a capatity for self-help in respect of all matters that had not, for administrative reasons, to be retained in the hands of a representative of Government. Various Acts were passed, by which the elective principle, financial independence and the reduction of official control were given a wide extension. In two resolutions Nos. $\frac{1}{146\text{-}164}$, dated the 24th October 1896, and Nos. 18-37, dated the 20th August 1897, respectively, Lord Elgin's government again reviewed the subject and laid down further conditions of progress. Important principles have, from time to time, been considered by the Government of India in connection with the revision of local self-government Acts and otherwise, and recently the whole field of policy has, in their survey of Indian administration, been ably and exhaustively reviewed by the Royal Commission upon Decentralization.

Substantial progress.

2. The Governor-General in Council is glad to be assured by the report of the Commission and the opinions of local Governments and Administrations upon it, that the results have on the whole justified the policy out which local self-government arose. The degree of success varies from province to province and from one part of a province to another, but there is definite and satisfactory evidence of the growth of a feeling of good citizenship, particularly in the towns. The spread of education is largely responsible for the quickening of a sense of responsibility and improvement in the machinery. In certain provinces, beneficial results have followed the elaboration of a system of local audit. On all sides there are signs of vitality and growth.

Future general policy.

3. The obstacles in the way of realising completely the ideals which have prompted action in the past are still, however, by no means inconsiderable. The smallness and inelasticity of local revenues, the difficulty of devising further forms of taxation, the indifference still prevailing in many places towards all forms of public life, the continued unwillingness of many Indian gentlemen to submit to the troubles, expense and inconveniences of election, the unfitness of some of those whom these obstacles do not deter, the prevalence of sectarian animosities, the varying character of the municipal area, all these are causes which cannot but impede the free and full development of local self-government. The growing demand among the educated classes in towns for greater efficiency, involving more direct expert control, in matters affecting public health and education, is a further influence of a different character. A similar tendency, it may be observed, is discernible in England and in other European countries, the Governments of which have shown a growing disposition to place on central authorities the duty of stimulating and encouraging local bodies in cases of default or deficiency on their part, and to give to the former powers of intervention and, in case of need, of actual supersession of the latter. These and similar considerations indicate the need for caution in delegating powers to non-official bodies, when they are not as yet adapted nor prepared for them. But on the whole the Government of India declared unhesitatingly in favour of a general policy of further progress, limited only by such conditions as local circumstances may dictate. Uniformity, even were it attainable, would be undesirable as tending to monotony, lifelessness and discouragement of new experiments. But, in fact, any attempt to exact uniformity in local administration would be foredoomed to failure. In each province sometimes in each part of a province, the administrative system has grown up on lines of its own with reference to local needs and the wishes and abilities of the people. On a review of all the circumstances, the Government of India have decided to accept in almost every case the conclusion of the local Government or Administration as to the degree of progress possible at the present time. But in the more backward provinces in particular, it is their conviction that there is room for advance, and that the aim to be steadily pursued is abstention from interference in detail and increased reliance on the non-official element in local bodies.

Reforms accepted by local Governments.

4. Local Governments and Administrations in general are prepared to advance in the direction of the main recommendations of the Commission. They propose in varying degrees to expand the electoral element in the constitution of local bodies, to extend the employment of non-official chairmen in municipalities, to allow local bodies more ample control over budgets and freer powers of re-appropriation, to concede increased authority to local bodies over establishment and to relax existing restrictions in regard to outside sanction for expenditure on works of importance. These changes will mark a real and immediate extension of the principles of local self-government.

5. The Government of India now propose to state the principal conclusions that have been reached after full discussion in the public press, in debates of the Legislative Councils, and in consultation with local Governments and, in certain matters, with His Majesty's Secretary of State, on the questions that arise respecting (1) towns, (2) districts, (3) villages, or other small local areas; in other words, in relation to (1) municipal boards, (2) district and sub-district boards, and (3) panchayats or other unions. In each case they will consider the constitution of the local body, its ability to tax and its powers in regard to its budget and its establishment. Finally, they will deal with the recommendations of the Commission in connection with presidency towns and Rangoon.

Municipal Boards.

Elective majority.

6. The Commission recommended that municipal boards should ordinarily be constituted on the basis of substantial elective majority, and that nominated members should be limited to a number sufficient to provide for the due representation of minorities and official experience. This recommendation has already been adopted in several provinces and is generally accepted by local Governments and the Government of India, subject to the proviso that the principle should in places, where its success is doubtful, be introduced gradually and after experiment in selected municipalities.

Chairmen.

7. The Commission also proposed that the municipal chairman should usually be an elected non-official, that Government officers should not be allowed to stand for election, and that where a nominated chairman might still be required he should be an official. The following statistics show how in the different provinces chairmen of municipalities are at present secured :—

Number of chairmen of municipalities, elected and nominated, officials and non-officials.

Non-official chairmen.

8. The majority of local Governments are in favour of substituting so far as possible, non-official for official chairmen, and the Government of India are in full sympathy with the proposal. The increasing burden of administration, apart from other considerations, renders it desirable that the district officer should be relieved of the executive control of municipal bodies. The Governor-General in Council recognises, however, that the change must be made gradually, and that in the absence of suitable candidates, it may not be possible to make it finally and once for all in particular places. He agrees with the opinion expressed in several quarters that discretion should be reserved to a local Government to nominate a non-official as chairman. Many gentlemen of influence, well fitted to be chairmen of boards, are not prepared to offer themselves for election, and insistence on election as the only alternative to the nomination of an official would unnecessarily narrow the field of choice. Nor does it appear necessary to prohibit boards under any circumstances from electing an official as their chairman. It may be desirable, however, to require the election of an official as chairman to be confirmed by the Commissioner, or even higher authority.

The Bombay system in larger municipalities.

9. The Commission suggested that some of the largest cities should adopt the system in force in Bombay city, where there is an elected chairman, who is the official mouthpiece of the corporation as a whole, the executive administration, however, vesting in a full-time nominated official subject to the control of the corporation and of a standing committee thereof. In the Bombay District Municipal Act, 1901, also there are provisions under which a Chief Officer can be appointed by a city municipality, on its own initiative or at the instance of the Governor in Council. The Governor in Council may also appoint an executive officer known as the Municipal Commissioner for any municipal district which contains one hundred thousand inhabitants, or for any other municipal district on the application of the municipality provided that such application has been previously supported by not less than two-thirds of the whole body of councillors. A Municipal Commissioner has in some respects more extensive powers than a Chief Officer. Under this arrangement the direction of the general policy of a municipality vests in the whole body of councillors, while the executive power with certain reservations, vests in the Municipal Commissioner. The municipal committee may cause him to furnish any returns and reports on matters appertaining to municipal administration and they retain financial control. The Chief Officer or Municipal Commissioner is not removable except by order of the Governor in Council, or by the vote of three-fourths of the whole number of councillors. These officers exercise certain executive powers specifically conferred on them by the Municipal Act, and such other powers as may be delegated to them under the provisions of the Act; and the Governor in Council may require that they shall be invested with any powers which can be lawfully delegated. The system works well in Bombay. The Government of India do not desire to press for its adoption in provinces where it may not be suited to the local conditions. They are, however, of opinion that it has the advantages of ensuring a continuous and strong executive administration by an efficient paid staff, while maintaining the corporate control and activity of the municipal board. It is in fact not dissimilar to the system in force in England. They commend it to local Governments as a means of overcoming, at any rate in large cities, the difficulties inherent in the introduction of the important changes contemplated, especially when non-official chairmen are busy professional men. In smaller towns they suggest that the object aimed at might be attained by the wider delegation of executive functions to responsible secretaries, engineers and health officers and that power to enforce such delegation might be secured by legislation.

Financial resources.

10. The aggregate income of 701 municipalities in existence at the close of 1912-1913 (excluding the presidency towns and Rangoon) amounted to £3, 282, 845 (R4,92,42,675) apart from loans, sales of securities and other extraordinary receipts, or an average of about £4,683 (R70,245) a year. This income was distributed as follows:—

Taxation.

11. The taxes, tolls and fees which may ordinarily be levied by municipalities are provided for in the municipal enactments in force in the different provinces. They are imposed in most cases with the previous sanction of the local Government concerned and within the limits laid down in the Acts. They usually take one or other of the following forms :—

(1) Tax on arts, professions, trades, callings, offices and appointments.
(2) Tax on building, lands and holdings.
(3) Water, drainage, sewage, conservancy, scavenging and lighting tax.
(4) Tax on vehicles, boats, palanquins and animals kept for use or used within municipal limits.
(5) Tax on circumstances and property.
(6) Tax on private menials and domestic servants.
(7) Tax on private markets.
(8) Octroi on animals or goods or both, brought within municipal limit for consumption or use.
(9) Toll on vehicles and animals entering municipal limits, and tolls on ferries, bridges and metalled roads.
(10) Fees on the registration of cattle sold within municipal limits and of carts and other vehicles.

The taxes provided for in the Acts vary, however, in the different provinces, and not all these taxes are actually levied in any one province. Any tax other than those specified in the Acts, which is proposed to be levied, ordinarily requires and should continue to require the sanction of the Governor-General in Council.

12. The most important taxes now in force are octroi duties, levied principally in Bombay, the United Provinces, the Punjab, the Central Provinces and the North-West Frontier Province, and the tax on houses and lands which holds the chief place in the other provinces as well as in Bombay city.

Octroi and the terminal tax.

13. The octroi system in the existing circumstances of the country has certain obvious advantages. As a tax octroi is productive and grows with the prosperity of the town. Its imposition is sanctioned by immemorial usage, and the people are habituated to the system by long custom. The tax is usually paid, in small amounts and the effect of the payment is not generally felt as a burden. On the other hand, there is no doubt that it provides constant opportunities for fraud, delay and oppression owing to the necessity of entrusting large discretionary powers to a subordinate agency, that it is expensive to collect and wasteful and, finally, that in many places it constitutes a serious burden on trade in general, and in particular on through trade, notwithstanding the provision made for refunds. On the recommendation of a strong representative committee and the local Government, the Government of India have sanctioned an experiment in the United Provinces, which involves (a) the substitution of direct taxation for octroi in the smaller towns, and (b) the application to a large number of other towns in which conditions are suitable of the system of a terminal tax or light transit dues on imports or exports, subject to no refunds. The Government of the United Provinces considers that some of the main benefits of such a system, and in particular a reduction of the high cost of collection, can only be secured if the tax is collected through the agency of the railway companies, who should be adequately remunerated for their services. The Government of India are prepared to facilitate negotiations to this end. The Government of Bombay have assented to the tentative replacement of octroi by a terminal tax in a few municipalities selected from those desirous of making the experiment. The question is under consideration or experiment in other provinces also. The Government of India while adhering to the principle that municipal taxation should not operate, so far as can be avoided, as a transit duty on through trade, are prepared to concede that a light terminal tax with no refunds may in practice prove less burdensome to through trade than the octroi system as hitherto administered, provided that the following conditions are observed—viz., (1) that the terminal tax, wherever imposed, should be substantially lower in its rates than the octroi which it replaces, (2) that it should be limited to places where there are special grounds for applying it, which must be adequately demonstrated, (3) that it should be regarded as facilitating the transition to a system in which direct taxation will form an increasingly important factor, and not as an elastic means of progressively increasing the resources of municipalities apart from normal development due to increase of traffic and (4) that it should not be adjusted with the primary object of compensating municipalities for the loss of octroi.

House and land tax.

14. The house and land tax is the chief source of municipal income in Madras, Bengal, Burma, Bihar and Orissa, and Assam and it has been imposed with some success in portions of Northern India. This tax, however, is difficult of assessment, in many places, where it is the custom to own rather than to rent dwelling houses, because in such cases the house affords no indication of the financial status of the owner. Many aristocratic but impoverished families live in large buildings which are merely relics of vanished prosperity, while the rich trader often remains content with the humble dwelling in which he was born. There is, however, a growing tendency on the part of the professional and trading classes to spend a larger proportion of their incomes on securing sanitary accommodation, so that it is reasonable to anticipate that the house tax revenue will gradually expand, and will generally be contributed by those best able to pay. The technical and administrative difficulties of assessment have in places been overcome by entrusting the preparation and periodic revision of registers to outside agency.

Tax on professions and trades.

15. A tax on professions and trades yields a considerable revenue in certain provinces, e.g., £17,239 (Rs. 2,58,591) in Madras, £4,697 (Rs. 70,465) in Bengal, £14,106 (Rs. 2,11,599) in the United Provinces and £4,869 (Rs. 73,036) in the Central Provinces. It has also been imposed in some towns in Northern India. But neither it nor the tax on circumstances and property is likely to yield a large revenue, and there is always danger lest local taxation of this kind encroach on the field of Imperial taxation.

Tax on pilgrims.

16. In Benares there is a form of terminal tax which is imposed, with certain exceptions, on passengers coming to or leaving that station by rail. There is a radius of exemption beyond which the tax is levied and it is collected by the railway companies as a surcharge on railway fares. A similar tax is also in force in Calcutta which is levied by the Calcutta Improvement Trust and is collected from passengers entering or leaving that city by rail or steamer. In Hardwar, Ajudhia and Thaneswar, there is a tax on pilgrims and other persons who enter the limits of those municipalities. The tax at Hardwar is levied on railway passengers throughout the year, while that at the other two municipalities is imposed only on the occasion of certain special fairs. In Bombay a pilgrim tax may be levied under section 59 (b) (x) of the District Municipal Act, III of 1901.

Powers of taxation.

17. The Commission were of opinion that municipalities should have full liberty to impose or alter taxation within the limits laid down by the municipal laws, but that the sanction of an outside authority to any increase in taxation should be required where the law did not prescribe a maximum rate. Subject to the general control of the Government of India over the principles to be followed, the sanction of the local Government is at present necessary to every proposal for the imposition of taxation. A maximum rate is prescribed in the Madras, Bengal, and Burma Acts, and in the Punjab, United Provinces and Central Provinces, so far as regards the tax on buildings and lands; but none is laid down in Bombay. The recommendations of the Commission do not command general assent. It is pointed out, for instance, that a municipality might reduce its taxation without due consideration to the needs of the administration and the security of loans. The Government of India, while recognizing the force of such objections, are, on the whole, in general sympathy with the Commission's recommendations. They think, however, that power to vary any tax might be reserved by such local Governments as are unable to accept in full the recommendations of the Commission and that in the case of indebted municipalities the previous sanction of higher authority should be required to any alteration of taxation.

Subventions by Government.

18. Municipal finance has shown a marked expanse during the last decade. The total income of 701 municipalities in 1912-13 was £3,282,845 (R4,92,42,675) as compared with £1,844,081 (R2,76,61,215) for 753 municipalities in 1902-03. Contributions from Government have materially assisted this expansion. Since 1911 the Government of India have made grants amounting to £3,076,466 (R4,61,47,000), of which £368,200 (R55,23,000) are recurring for urban sanitation. Municipalities have also received their share—the exact figure is not easily ascertainable—of the large educational grants made by the Government of India since 1911, amounting to about £3,987,800 (R5,98,17,000), of which £826,666 (R1,24,00,000) are recurring. Municipal boards have been relieved of all charges for the maintenance of police within municipal limits. In almost every province the recommendation that municipalities should be relieved from financial responsibility for famine relief and should receive assistance from Government in the case of severe epidemics has been already given effect to, or the principle has been accepted.

There is a growing demand on every side for improvements and it is not possible for all municipalities to finance large schemes of water-supply and drainage without substantial aid. Such aid has been freely given by the Imperial and local Governments. The power of the Government to make grants is, however, limited and financial assistance of this nature cannot be expected unless the rate-payers are prepared to bear a reasonable proportion of the burden. Where, however, further taxation is not possible the Government of India trust that municipalities will bear in mind the possibility of supplementing taxation by development of municipal property, so as to ensure the best possible returns and by maintaining the principle that special services such as the supply of water, electric lighting, etc., should, as far as possible, pay for themselves.

The Government of India have also accepted a further recommendation of the Commission, namely, that assistance may legitimately be given by Government to poorer municipalities which, without it, would be unable to carry on the normal standard of administration required from them. In such cases, the Government of India agree with the Commission that assistance can best be given, when it is given, by a general recurring grant-in-aid, which should be at the discretion of the local Government and met from its own resources.

Payment and control of services.

19. The Commission proposed that if a municipal or rural board has to pay for a service it should control it, and that where it is expedient that the control should be largely in the hands of Government, the service should be a provincial one. The Government of India while not prepared to accept the proposal in full have proved it in a somewhat modified form. They consider that charges should be remitted in cases where a local body contributes to Government for services inherent in the duty of supervision and control by Government officers, or for services which cannot expediently be performed except by Government agency. For example, Government may properly cease to charge for clerical establishments in the offices of supervision and control, or for the collection of District cesses which it is clearly expedient to realise along with the Government revenue. On this principle they have made assignments which will relieve both municipalities and rural boards of payments amounting to £40,000 (₹6,00,000) a year approximately.

Tramway cess.

20. It was suggested by the Commission that municipalities should be empowered to levy a special rate for the construction or promotion of tramways. Local Governments generally are doubtful as to the value of the proposal. The Government of India will, however, be prepared to consider any practical proposal to this end, which they may receive.

Budgets and financial control.

21. Commenting on the minute control exercised in some provinces over municipal finance, the Commission recommended that municipalities should have a free hand with regard to their budgets; the only check required should, they thought, be the maintenance of a minimum standing balance to be prescribed by the local Government. They acknowledged that relaxed control might lead to mistakes and mismanagement, but they were of opinion that municipal bodies could attain adequate financial responsibility only by the exercise of such powers and by having to bear the consequenses of their errors. Further checks would be provided by the control which local Governments would exercise over loans, and by the power which should be reserved to compel a municipality to discharge its duties in case of default. The system proposed is stated to be in force in the Bombay Presidency where, however, no minimum balance is required by law. The Government of the United Provinces accepts the recommendation subject to the condition that Commissioners should pass and that Government should see the budgets of indebted municipalities. The Punjab Government also agrees, subject to the proviso that the budget of an indebted municipality should be forwarded to the Government for information. The Government of Bengal are prepared to introduce the change experimentally in certain selected municipalities. They intend also to issue general instructions to Commissioners in this province to abstain from interference in details and to restrict their supervision to secure (1) a minimum closing balance, (2) provision for the service of loans, (3) the observance of the provisions of the Act or statutory rules and of any standing orders of Government. Other Governments concede certain relaxations of existing rules. The Government of India accept these opinions for the present, but they nevertheless regard the recommendations of the Commission as expressing a policy to be steadily kept in view and gradually realised.

Estimates for public works.

22. The Commission proposed that the existing restrictions on municipalities, which require outside sanction for works estimated to cost more than a certain amount, should be removed, but that Government should scrutinize and sanction estimates of projects to be carried out from loan funds. The majority of the local Governments are prepared to relax the existing rules in the direction of giving more freedom to municipal boards. The Government of India are in favour of extended freedom subject, where necessary, to proper precautions against extravagant and ill-considered projects. They are content, however, to leave the precise extent of relaxation to be determined by local Governments. One important factor in this connection will be the quality of the professional agency available in the various boards. In their resolution No. 1019-A., dated the 10th November 1914, promulgating rules relating to the grant of loans to local bodies under the Local Authorities Loans Act, 1914, the Government of India have emphasised the necessity for a proper scrutiny of projects financed with borrowed money, and they trust that the rules in question will be carefully observed.

Establishments.

23. It was recommended by the Commission that the degree of outside control over municipal establishments should be relaxed, that the appointment of municipal secretaries or other chief executive officers, of engineers and health officers, where these exist, should require the sanction of the local Government in the case of cities, and of the Commissioner elsewhere and that the same sanction should be required for any alteration in the emoluments of these posts, and for the appointment and dismissal of the occupants. As regards other appointments, they proposed that the local Governments should lay down for municipal boards general rules in respect to such matters as leave, acting and travelling allowances, pensions or provident funds and maximum salaries, and that their sanction should be required for any deviation therefrom. Almost all local Governments have expressed their willingness to relax outside control over the appointment of the staff employed by local bodies. In Bombay, the system is generally that recommended by the Commission. In some other provinces, the existing rules give a free hand to Municipalities, subject to outside control in the case of certain appointments. The Government of India, while considering that Government control over other posts might reasonably be relaxed, accept the view that outside sanction should be required to the appointment or dismissal of secretaries, engineers and health officers, and they have already advised local Governments to take powers where these do not exist, to require a municipality to appoint a health officer and to veto the appointment of an unfit person. Such powers already exist in the Bombay Presidency and have recently been taken by legislation in Bengal. The Imperial and Provincial Governments have given liberal grants to selected municipalities in order to establish a trained service of health officers and sanitary inspectors, the conditions of these grants being, as in England, such as will ensure the appointment of qualified men and reasonable security of tenure.

Special outside control.

24. The Commission thought that the Collector should retain certain powers, given under the existing Acts, e.g., the power to suspend in certain cases the operation of municipal resolutions and that the Commissioner should be able to require a municipality which had neglected a particular service to take such action as he may consider necessary. The local Governments generally and the Government of India are of opinion that special powers of outside control are necessary and should continue.

Town-planning and relief of congested areas.

25. The question of extending the powers of selected municipalities to enable them to relieve the pressure of population in congested areas, and to undertake schemes of orderly town-planning in order to provide for future needs, has been dealt with by the Government of India in paragraphs 43 and 44 of their Sanitary Resolution Nos. 888—908, dated the 23rd May 1914. A Town Planning Bill, combining many original features with others derived from the latest English and Continental legislation, has now been passed into law in the Bombay Presidency, and the Government of India will watch with deep interest the results of this experiment, which will, they trust, pioneer a fruitful expansion of municipal activities in India.

Rural Boards (district and sub-district)

Sub-district boards.

26. The Commission desired that sub-district boards should be universally established and that they should be the principal agencies of rural boards administration. They noted that there was a considerable body of evidence that the sub-district boards existing in Bombay, Bengal, Punjab, Bihar and Orissa and the Central Provinces had not been efficient or successful bodies, and this they attributed largely to the circumscription of their powers and resources. They thought that these boards should have adequate funds and a large measure of independence, and that their jurisdiction should be so limited in area as to ensure local knowledge and interest on the part of the members, and be at the same time a unit well known to the people. For this purpose they suggested the taluka or tahsil as a suitable unit. The system recommended by the Commission is in force in Madras, where, however, the territorial jurisdiction is coterminous with the revenue division. In Bombay the taluka board is universal and is the principal agency in rural board administration. In Bengal and in Bihar and Orissa sub-district boards are merely the agents of the district boards and have restricted powers. The local Governments concerned deprecate such a reconstitution as would involve sapping the vitality of district boards while in entire agreement with the Commission that sufficient use has not hitherto been made of these bodies. In the Central Provinces where also sub-district boards with limited powers exist, a scheme has been introduced for enlarging their scope by entrusting them with the management of minor public works, sanitation, water-supply, etc., and placing an adequate share of the district council funds at their disposal for these purposes. In Assam the rural boards have jurisdiction over sub-divisional areas, and perform the duties assigned elsewhere to district boards. The Governments of the United Provinces and the Punjab and the Chief Commissioner of the North-West Frontier Province consider the scheme unsuitable in view of local conditions. Districts in Northern India are comparatively small and form an easily controlled unit, communications are good, and moreover under existing conditions in the provinces concerned it would be more difficult to secure competent boards in tahsils than in districts. The Lieutenant-Governor of the United Provinces considers moreover, that there is every prospect of a steady advance in the reality and utility of district boards by a continuous and orderly development of the existing system of delegation to tahsil or sub-divisional committees. The Punjab Government favours the formation of sub-committees within a district board on a local basis. The Government of India accept the views of the several local Governments in regard to their own provinces.

Electric majority.

27. District and sub-district boards, in the opinion of the Commission, should contain a large preponderance of elected members, together with a nominated element sufficient to secure the due representation of minorities and of official experience.

In the United Provinces, the number of nominated members on a district board cannot exceed one-third of the elected members, while in the Central Provinces the number of such members cannot exceed one-third of the total number. The Government of Madras are prepared to raise the proportion of elected members to two-thirds and one-half of the maximum strength on district and sub-district boards, respectively. In Bombay, the Governor in Council regards it as inadvisable, in present conditions, to provide for an elected majority on the boards. There is already a substantial majority of elected members both in district and sub-district boards in Bengal and in Bihar and Orissa. In the Punjab, the elective system has been applied to many districts and the local Government has expressed its readiness to extend it. The Chief Commissioner of Assam has adopted the principle of granting an elective majority. In the North-West Frontier Province, the change is not yet practicable owing to factional and tribal feeling. It will be seen that local Governments in general are in sympathy with the Commission's proposal.

Chairman.

28. The Commission were of opinion that an official should remain, as he usually is at present, chairman of every district and sub-district board. They considered that the removal of the district and sub-divisional officer from the presidentship of rural boards would have the effect of dissociating them from the general interests of the district in such matters as roads, education, sanitation, etc., and would divorce them from healthy contact with instructed non-official opinion. They differentiated the circumstances of rural boards from those of municipalities, in that the latter are less connected with general district administration, that they have reached a higher level of political education and that the jurisdictional area is much smaller and more compact. All local Governments have accepted this view with which the Government of India are in agreement though they will have no objection to non-official chairmen being retained where such exist, or appointed where a local Government or Administration desires to make the experiment.

Financial resources.

29. The funds of district boards are mainly derived from a cess levied upon agricultural land over and above the land revenue, with which it is collected, and not usually exceeding one anna in the rupee (6¼ per cent) on the annual rent value. Since 1905 this income has been specially supplemented by a Government contribution amounting to 25 per cent of the then existing income. Besides this, special grants are frequently made to district boards by local Governments. The total number of district and sub-district boards in 1912-13 was 199 and 536, respectively, with an aggregate income of £3,787,219 (R5,68,08,292). In the same year they received specially large grants from the sums allotted by the Imperial Government for education and sanitation. Prior to 1913 the district boards of several provinces did not receive the whole of the land cess. For example, this cess in Bengal and Bihar and Orissa was divided into two parts, viz., the road cess and the public works cess. The district boards only enjoyed the benefits of the road cess, while the public works cess belonged of right to the local Government, which returned, however, a portion in the shape of discretionary grants. In other Provinces, e.g., the United Provinces, the Punjab and the North-West Frontier Province, considerable deductions were made by the local Governments concerned from the cess for various purposes. In 1913, the Imperial Government made assignments to the local Governments concerned to enable them to hand over the entire net proceeds of the cess to the boards. The relief thus given amounted to £548,866 (R82,33,000) a year and the provinces which benefited were Bengal, the United Provinces, Bihar and Orissa, and to a smaller extent the Punjab and the North-West Frontier Province. The income of district boards in Bengal, the United Provinces, and Bihar and Orissa has mainly by this measure been increased by 44, 43, and 55 per cent, respectively, in the year 1913-14. This notable expansion will enable them in future to undertake or develop many beneficent activities from which they have hitherto been debarred by lack of financial means.

The following statements show the proportions under various heads of income and expenditure of the district boards in the different Provinces for the year 1912-13.

Taxation.

30. It was the opinion of the Commission that district boards should not be empowered to raise the land cess beyond one anna in the rupee on the rent value, as this would be an unpopular measure. Under present conditions any proposal to raise the limit imposed by the existing law, would require the previous sanction of the Government of India. Such proposals would need the most careful consideration on the merits, and the Government of India do not consider it necessary for the present to make any pronouncement on the subject.

Railway or tramway cess.

31. The Commission proposed to allow district boards to levy a special extra land cess of 3 pies in the rupee on the annual rent value of land for the construction of light railways or tramways conditional on the approval of the tax by not less than three-fourths of the members of the board. This resolution would be subject to confirmation after a period of six months by an equal majority at a like meeting and to the sanction of the local Government. The Government of India, after consulting local Governments, have, with the sanction of the Secretary of State, empowered local Governments to undertake legislation, if they so desire, in accordance with the Commission's proposals. The scheme is to be commended from many points of view. It has an educative value by associating local self-government with responsibility for taxation for local objects and it opens up great possibilities of economic development. The actual imposition of the tax will in many instances probably not be necessary; the power to impose it, if necessary, will be sufficient for purposes of guarantee. In a few districts in Bengal the ordinary resources of district boards have proved sufficient for the construction of railways within the limits of the district. The eminently satisfactory results which have attended the construction of district board lines in the presidency of Madras encourage the Government of India to hope that the financial results of carefully selected schemes will in the course of a few years materially strengthen the financial resources of district boards which are in a position to undertake the construction or guarantee of these lines. Legislation to carry out the proposal has already been undertaken in Assam and is under consideration in the Punjab. The Government of India trust that other local Governments will take steps to confer the necessary powers on the local authorities and that selected boards throughout the country will experiment on the lines suggested.

Methods of railway construction.

32. There are two general methods by which district boards, which possess the necessary resources, may secure the construction of a railway within the limits of the district. A district board may wait until the surplus funds, which it has accumulated from the levy of a special cess or otherwise, are adequate to justify it in undertaking construction at its own cost, or it may decide to allow to a company floated for the special purpose of the construction of the proposed railway a firm guarantee on the capital paid up. In such cases in return for the guarantee, the district board will become entitled to a share of the surplus profits over a certain fixed percentage accruing from the working of the feeder railway. If the former method be adopted, it will usually be found convenient and economical to entrust the construction and working of the railway owned by the district board to the main line—whether worked by the State or by a company—with which the district board railway connects. In the latter case, the Branch Line Company receiving the district board's guarantee may itself undertake construction and working, or may arrange for construction and working through the agency of the main line. The Government of India are of opinion that when a light railway using steam locomotives is projected outside urban limits it will ordinarily be preferable to deal with the project as a railway under the Railways Act rather than as a tramway under the Tramways Act. In any event the sanction of the Railway Department is necessary in order to ensure that the project shall not conflict with others which that Department may have under their consideration, and the Railway Department will at all times, when so desired, endeavour to arrange suitable terms for construction and working on behalf of the district board, or on behalf of a Company which has received a district board guarantee. As a result of a recent reference from the Government of Madras the Government of India have decided that when a district board has accumulated a sum which, though substantial, is insufficient to meet the entire cost of a railway project which a district board desires to carry out, there is no objection to the raising of a debenture loan on the security of the railway to be constructed and the potential resources which a district board possesses through the power to continue the levy of a railway cess. For the redemption of such debentures a special sinking fund need not be accumulated. By this expedient a district board may become the owner of a district railway at a much earlier date than would formerly have been possible. A large field is thus offered for district board enterprise.

This recent decision will, it is hoped, be of substantial assistance in accelerating the construction of local feeder railways outside the Imperial programme.

Budgets and financial control.

33. A further recommendation was that rural boards should be given full power to pass their budgets subject only to the maintenance of a prescribed minimum balance. The procedure recommended by the Commission is stated to be already in force in the Bombay Presidency. Other local Governments generally are not prepared to accede to this complete removal of restrictions, although some of them propose some relaxation in the existing rules. The Government of India consider that the present restrictions on the powers of the boards with regard generally to budget expenditure should be gradually relaxed with due regard to local conditions and requirements. The fact that an official is almost invariably president of a rural board and that powers of inspection and control by certain officers of Government are provided under the Acts relating to rural boards should ordinarily, in their opinion, be sufficient safeguards against gross inefficiency or mismanagement.

Estimates for public works.

34. The Commission also proposed that the existing stringent restrictions on rural boards with regard to estimates for public works should be removed. At present rural boards have to obtain outside sanction in respect to roads and other public works, the estimates of which involve any considerable amount, the limits varying for different provinces. In the opinion of the Government of India, which has the general support of local Governments, the grant to rural boards of full powers in the allotment of funds and the passing of estimates cannot, for the present at least, be conceded, but the extent of the necessary financial control might depend in the case of rural boards on the competence of the staff employed, and, where this varies, it would not be desirable to lay down hard and fast rules for the whole province. In such cases district boards might be placed in different classes according to the staff employed. The Government of India accept the view of the Commission that in districts where there are sufficient works to justify the special appointment of a trained engineer, a district board which desires to entertain such an officer and can afford to pay him an adequate salary should be permitted to do so.

Establishments.

35. The Government of India have come to the same conclusions in the case of establishments of rural boards as in the case of municipalities (paragraph 23 supra). They have recently, in their Sanitary Resolution, Nos. 888—908, dated the 23rd May 1914, expressed the opinion that the appointment of well-qualified and wholetime district sanitary officers to control and organise all sanitary arrangements and experiments in the district is one of the urgent needs of the present time.

Special outside control.

36. Special powers of control over rural boards are vested in outside authorities under the existing Acts, and the Commission recommended that these should continue. The local Governments in general as well as the Government of India accept this view.

Village Organisation—Panchayats or other Committees.

Recommendations of the Commission.

37. The Commission recommended the constitution and development of village panchayats possessed with certain administrative powers, with jurisdiction in petty civil and criminal cases, and financed by a portion of the land cess, special grants, receipts from village cattle pounds and markets, and small fees on civil suits. This proposal, favourably commended by the Government of India, who expressed their readiness to acquiesce in some form of permissive taxation, if need be, has in general been sympathetically received. The practical difficulties are, however, felt to be very great in many parts of India. The Government of Burma and the Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces deprecate the introduction of a system which, in their judgment, is alien to the customs of the people and will not command public confidence. Other Governments are willing to experiment, but on different lines. The Punjab Government has already established panchayats for civil cases only and of a voluntary character. Sir Leslie Porter, when officiating as Lieutenant-Governor of the United Provinces, expressed his willingness to entrust selected panchayats with criminal as well as civil jurisdiction. The Madras Government are desirous of experimenting in the establishment of panchayats but consider that action should be confined for the present to the encouragement of voluntary self-contained organisms independent of statutory sanction and consisting of village elders conferring together for common village purposes. So far as judicial functions are concerned they are content to rely on the provisions of the Madras Village Panchayats Regulation, 1816, and the Madras Village Courts Act, 1888, which authorise the assembling of panchayats and the convening of village bench courts for the settlement of particular civil suits on the application of the parties and to encourage the operation of these enactments wherever practicable. The Governments of Bengal and of Bihar and Orissa are of opinion that their existing laws sufficiently provide for the establishment of panchayats with administrative duties, while powers to dispose of criminal cases could be given under the existing Acts dealing with these matters. The Chief Commissioner of Assam has expressed his readiness to develop village government, and the Local Self-Government Bill which has recently passed the Legislative Council of that province permits the constitution of village authorities, the grant of funds by local boards and from other sources, and the delegation of minor powers of local control. The whole question has now been raised again in the discussions contained in the report of the Bengal District Administration Committee, 1913-14.

Panchayats.

38. The Commission recognised that any policy of establishing panchayats would be the work of many years, would require great care and discretion and much patience and judicious discrimination between the circumstances of different villages. The Government of India desire that where any practical scheme can be worked out in co-operation with the people concerned, full experiment should be made on lines approved by the local Government or Administration concerned. Throughout the greater part of India the word "panchayat" is familiar. The lower castes commonly have voluntarily constituted panchayats, to whom they allow quasi-judicial authority in social matters. The more artificial administrative committees such as chaukidari panchayats, local fund unions, and village sanitation and education committees, and, in places even village panchayats, already exist. The spread of co-operative societies and the distribution of Government advances in times of famine and scarcity on joint security are educative influences. Village tribunals for the disposal of petty civil suits have got beyond the experimental stage in some places and are in the experimental stage in others. There is, therefore, some material with which to build. The Government of India agree, however, with the view prominently brought forward by the Bengal District Administration Committee that much will depend on the local knowledge and personality of the officers who may be selected to introduce any scheme.

General principles.

39. With this general commendation, the Government of India are content to leave the matter in the hands of local Governments and Administrations. They are disposed to consider that the following general principles indicate the lines on which advance is most likely to be successful:—

(1) The experiments should be made in selected villages or areas larger than a village, where the people in general agree.

(2) Legislation, where necessary, should be permissive and general. The powers and duties of panchayats, whether administrative or judicial, need not and, indeed, should not be identical in every village.

(3) In areas where it is considered desirable to confer judicial as well as administrative functions upon panchayats the same body should exercise both functions.

(4) Existing village administrative committees, such as village sanitation and education committees should be merged in the village panchayats where these are established.

(5) The jurisdiction of panchayats in judicial cases should ordinarily be permissive, but in order to provide inducement to litigants reasonable facilities might be allowed to persons wishing to have their cases decided by panchayats. For instance, court fees, if levied, should be small, technicalities in procedure should be avoided and possibly a speedier execution of decrees permitted.

(6) Powers of permissive taxation may be conferred on panchayats, where desired, subject to the control of the local Government or Administration, but the development of the panchayat system should not be prejudiced by an excessive association with taxation.

(7) The relations of panchayats on the administrative side with other administrative bodies should be clearly defined. If they are financed by district or sub-district boards, there can be no objection to some supervision by such boards.

Presidency Corporations and Rangoon.

Recommendations of the Commission.

40. The Commission recommended that all the presidency corporations should be invested with the powers possessed by the Corporation of Bombay, and that the system of administration in force in that city, viz., that of a nominated official Commissioner in combination with an elected chairman, should be extended to the other towns. They also considered that the same privileges should be conferred on the Rangoon Municipality in view of its population, the large future which lies before it, and the strength of its commercial community.

Bombay, Calcutta, Madras.

41. The Presidency municipalities are regulated by special Acts, and their resources and powers are far greater than those of any district municipality. In Calcutta and Madras, the municipal chairman is appointed by Government. In Bombay, he is elected, but the executive administration is vested in a Commissioner nominated by Government. He is assisted by a Deputy Commissioner appointed by the corporation subject to the confirmation of Government. The Commissioner possesses wide executive powers; in some matters he must obtain the sanction of the standing committee (a statutory body, one-third of whose members are nominated by Government); in others again of the corporation. The corporation enjoys a very full discretion in the work of municipal administration; it passes its own budget, and may impose taxation within the limits of the law, and the sanction of the Government is necessary only to the appointments of health officer and engineer.

The corporation of Calcutta possesses similarly wide powers. The sanction of Government is, however, required to the execution of works costing one lakh of rupees or more and to the salary of any employé drawing more than Rs. 1,000 a month, as well as to the appointments of health officer and engineer.

In Madras, the Government possess numerous powers which are not reserved to the Governments of Bengal and Bombay.

The adoption of the Bombay constitution.

42. As regards the main proposal of the Commission, the Government of Bengal were in 1909 disposed to agree with the preference expressed for the constitution of the Bombay Municipality in respect of the offices of municipal commissioner and chairman, but stated that the point would be considered hereafter, should the amendment of the Calcutta Municipal Act be undertaken. The Government of Madras agree with the corporation as to the advisability of introducing the Bombay system, and they have no objection to the general emancipation of the corporation from Government control provided that the municipal commissioner is placed in a position substantially as strong as he occupies in Bombay.

43. The Government of India have accepted in the main the recommendations of the local Governments which will go far towards carrying out the proposals of the Commission. They have expressed to the Government of Madras the opinion that a free hand might be left to the corporation to impose, without the sanction of Government, any tax specifically sanctioned by the Act with regard to which maximum rates have been laid down therein. They consider that in order to provide security of tenure, the health officer, revenue officer, and engineer should not be removeable without the sanction of Government. In the case both of Calcutta and Madras, the limit of cost of works which may be undertaken without the sanction of Government will be raised to Rs. 2½ lakhs, and, with regard to Calcutta, the Government of Bengal have agreed to remove the restriction requiring the sanction of Government to salaries carrying more than Rs. 1,000 a month. The appointments of health officer and engineer will continue to require this sanction.

Rangoon.

44. With regard to Rangoon, the Government of Burma is not prepared to make the concessions recommended. The circumstances of Calcutta, Madras and Rangoon are in many respects widely different, and the Government of India defer, at any rate at present, to the views of the local Government on this point. But they observe, as a general proposition, that in cities where there is a responsible public press and representation in the Provincial councils, the case for entrusting large powers and extended freedom to the municipal bodies appears to be specially strong.

Local Government Board.

45. The suggestion that Government control over rural boards and municipalities should be exercised in each Province by a Local Government Board, which should contain a proportion of non-official members, was not accepted by the Commission. They considered that, since their proposals would greatly reduce the outside control exercised over the proceedings of municipal and rural boards and would provide for the delegation in large measure of such powers of guidance as are necessary to commissioners and other local officers, no benefit would be derived from the creation of a special controlling board of this nature. The Government of India also are not prepared to support the proposal, which is not only unnecessary in the opinion of the local Governments consulted, but is undesirable as tending to perpetuate the very centralisation in local affairs, which it is the object of Government to diminish.

Conclusion.

46. In conclusion, the Governor-General in Council hopes that this declaration of policy may lead to steady and sound progress, without hampering local Governments and Administrations or unduly fettering local self-government. It is designed to mark a definite advance in devolution and political education.

His Excellency in Council trusts that it will be interpreted in the spirit in which it is framed, a spirit of prudent boldness, calculating risks but not afraid to take them in the cause of progress.

STATISTICS OF BRITISH INDIA

VOLUME IV

ADMINISTRATIVE, JUDICIAL, AND LOCAL SELF-GOVERNMENT

INTRODUCTORY NOTE

This volume is intended to give in convenient form statistics relating to Administration, the Judiciary, and Local Self-Government. The main changes as compared with the preceding volume (the seventh issue) are :—

(a) Statistics for two years have been added, thus the data are brought up to 1915-16 ;

(b) Ten new tables relating to area and population have been added to show the density of population, province by province (table 4, page 11), the distribution of population (1) according to religion and education (table 10, page 24), and (2) according to residence and education, the statistics of chief castes (tables 11 and 12, pages 25 and 26), the distribution of population according to language (table 13, pages 28 and 29), etc. The new tables will be found on pages 11, 22—32 and 42—43.

(c) A table (table 27 on page 64) has been added to show the principal police offences ;

(d) A series of tables showing the criminality of provinces, has been appended to the main tables (appendix I, pages 207 and 208) ;

(e) Charts illustrate (i) criminality in the major provinces of British India (page 48), (ii) robbery and dacoity by provinces (page 144), (iii) the number of district and sub-district boards (page 195).

An index for facility of reference will be found on page 221. An attempt has been made in this note to bring out the main conclusions that may be drawn from the tables.

SUMMARY TABLE

(Pages 1—2.)

Table I gives the salient features of the statistics relating to Administration, the Judiciary, and Local Self-Government.

AREA AND POPULATION

(For tables see pages 4—46)

With the exception of a few sparsely inhabited and unadministered tracts in the confines of Burma and Assam, the statistics in this section cover the whole Empire of India, that is to say, the territories administered by the Government of India and the mediatized Native States. They do not include the Frontier States of Afghanistan, Nepal, and Bhutan, nor do they include the French and Portuguese Settlements. They also exclude Aden and the Andaman and Nicobar Islands.

According to the revised areas adopted in the Census of 1911, the Indian Empire contains 1,799,434 square miles. The provinces under British administration comprise 1,017,850 square miles or 56·61 per cent of the total. The remainder is included in the various Native States. The total population is 315,084,049, of which British territory contains 243,792,288 or 77·4 per cent, and the Native States 71,291,761 or 22·6 per cent, of the total. The general results of the Census of 1911, compared with those of the enumerations taken in 1891 and 1901, are stated below :—

| | 1891 | 1901 | 1911 |
|---|---|---|---|
| Males | 146,692,293 | 149,902,599 | 161,288,222 |
| Females | 140,510,923 | 144,389,834 | 153,795,827 |
| TOTAL | 287,203,216 | 294,292,433 | 315,084,049 |

NOTE.—The previous issue of this volume was published under the title of "Statistical Abstract for British India, Volume IV."

The totals of 1901 and 1911 exclude Aden and the Andamans and Nicobars which were not included in the former enumerations: the population of these places was only 68,623 in 1901 and 72,624 in 1911. The figures include Native States. According to the Census Returns the total population of India has increased by 7·1 per cent during the last decade and by 52·9 per cent since 1872, but the real gain since the latter date is very much less than this. Large tracts of country, including the Central India and Rajputana Agencies, Hyderabad and the Punjab States, which had been omitted from the Census of 1872, were included in 1881. In 1891, the greater part of Upper Burma and Kashmir and several smaller units were enumerated for the first time. In 1901, the most important additions were a portion of Upper Burma and the greater part of Baluchistan. In 1911 the Agencies and the Tribal Areas in the North-West Frontier Province together with a few smaller areas were included within the scope of the operations.

The following table presents the population of British India in 1911 with increase or decrease on previous censuses, the area, and the number of districts:—

| Provinces | Population of 1911 | Increase or decrease on previous censuses | Area (square miles) | Number of districts |

There are great local variations in density. In nearly two-thirds of the districts and States the number of persons to the square miles is less than 200, and in about a quarter it ranges from 200 to 500. The units with less than 100 persons to the square mile cover two-fifths of the total area but contain only one-eleventh of the population, while those with more than 500, though their area is only one-eleventh of the whole, contain one-third of the population. The two most densely populated provinces are Bengal with 578 and Oudh with 520 persons to the square mile. The nearest approach to this density is found in the feudatory states of the Madras Presidency including Travancore and Cochin with an average of 456, and in the province of Agra with 417 persons to the square mile. In the British districts of Madras the average is 291 and in all other British territories the average is much lower, being as small as 75 in Sind, 80 in Lower Burma, and 52 in Upper Burma. In Kashmir the average falls to 37, the mountain ranges surrounding the valley being very sparsely inhabited.

Only 9·5 per cent of the population of India are found in towns, compared with 78·1 per cent in England and Wales. Rather more than half the urban population of India is found in towns containing upwards of 20,000 inhabitants, about one-fifth in towns with from ten to twenty thousand, and the same proportion in those with from five to ten thousand; the remainder, about one-fifth, live in towns with less than five thousand. The proportion of the urban to the total population in the main provinces ranges from 18 per cent in Bombay to 3 per cent in Assam.

The variation in the average number of persons per house is often much smaller than would be supposed. The average in Bengal and the United Provinces is 5·3 and 4·6, respectively, as against 5·3 and 4·9 in Madras and the Central Provinces and Berar.

In India, as a whole, the proportion of females per 1,000 males rose steadily from 954 in 1881 to 963 in 1901. It has now again fallen to exactly the same figure as in 1881. The results for the whole empire are but little affected by migration but the reverse is the case when those for provinces are considered and still more so in the case of individual districts.

The age group 15-50 contains about half the total population of India and the proportions are apt to be disturbed by famine which affects chiefly the persons at the two extremes of life. Owing to the shorter lives of people of India the rate of mortality amongst those aged 50 and over is considered greater than that amongst those under 15.

The total number of Hindus in India is 217·6 millions or more than two-thirds of the whole population. In British territory the proportion is 67 and in the Native States 78 per cent. The Muhammadans number 66·6 millions or nearly one-fifth of the total population of India. There are 3,873,000 Christians in India or 12 per mille of the total population. The number of Hindus has increased since 1901 by 5 per cent, while that of Muhammadans, Sikhs, and Buddhists has increased, respectively, by 7, 37, and 13 per cent.

In India, it is extremely difficult to show the number of persons engaged in each occupation. This, however, is a difficulty which is not confined to India alone. In the United States and Germany it has been held that a population census cannot be expected to give the requisite information regarding occupation and that a comprehensive industrial survey obtained by detailed investigation and spread over a considerable time is to be preferred. In the report of the Census of England and Wales for 1891 it is said, "A census does not supply data which are suitable for minute classification or admit of profitable examination in detail. The most that it is reasonable to expect from data so collected is that they shall give the means of drawing such a picture of the occupational distribution of the people as shall be fairly true in its main lines, though little value can be attached to the detailed features. It is not wise to demand from a material a result for the production of which it is unsuited." In March 1901, the Times in treating of the approaching census gave some idea of the extent of the error: "The mere tabulation of such a mass of detail would obviously be a work of considerable magnitude even if all the descriptions were clear and unambiguous. But this is precisely what they are not. The difficulty is two-fold: a man engaged, say, in some mechanical pursuit, will naturally describe his occupation by the name under which it is known to him and his fellows without dreaming that the word used may be a technical one which is familiar to none except those following the same or closely allied occupations and which gives no indication in what broad branch of industry he is to be classed. For instance, the term 'pig selector' might to the uninitiated seem to have an agricultural ring about it but as a fact the worker who is initiated to that designation is engaged in the iron and steam industry. Again 'biscuit placers' have nothing to do with baking bread, nor have all 'saddle makers' and 'spur makers' any connection with the manufacture of harness for horses."

For the purposes of this section abstracts have been compiled from the occupation table of the Census Report for 1911, based on the new scheme of classification devised by Mons. Bertillon, showing the occupation of the population under certain main heads. The figures for 1901 have, as far as practicable, been brought on the lines of 1911. The statistics have been given in thousands.

India is an agricultural country and 72 per cent of the total population are engaged in pasture and agriculture. Occupations connected with the preparation and supply of material substances support 58·2 million persons or about 18 per cent of the population. The public administration and the liberal arts support 10·9 million persons or over 3 per cent of the population.

ADMINISTRATIVE DIVISIONS

(For tables see page 47)

For the purposes of administration, British India is divided into provinces varying greatly in area and population. The status and area of these provinces are changed from time to time to meet altered conditions. The most recent of these changes were the creation of the North-West Frontier Province out of the Punjab in 1901; the reconstitution of the provinces of Bengal and Assam into the two provinces of Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam in 1905 and again into the three provinces of Bengal, Bihar and Orissa, and Assam in 1912; and the formation of the province of Delhi out of the Punjab in 1912. At present there are eight large provinces, and seven lesser charges. The eight major provinces are the Presidencies of Bengal, Madras, and Bombay; the Lieutenant-Governorships of the United Provinces, Bihar and Orissa, the Punjab, and Burma; and the Chief Commissionership of the Central Provinces. The minor provinces are Assam, the North-West Frontier Province, Ajmer-Merwara, Baluchistan, Coorg, Delhi, and the Andaman Islands. The statistics in this volume are grouped and classified according to the administrative divisions now existent in British India.

The administration of the following eleven provinces, and of the penal settlement of the Andaman Islands, is controlled by the Home Department of the Government of India:—

|---|---|
| Bengal. | Burma. |
| Madras. | Central Provinces and Berar. |
| Bombay, with Sind. | Assam. |
| United Provinces of Agra and Oudh. | Coorg. |
| Bihar and Orissa. | Delhi. |
| Punjab. | |

The remaining three provinces, viz., the North-West Frontier Province (formed in 1901 from the trans-Indus districts of the Punjab), Ajmer-Merwara, and Baluchistan are controlled by the Foreign Department.

The three Presidencies of Bengal, Madras, and Bombay occupy a superior position. The administration of each is vested in a Governor who is assisted by an Executive Council composed of three members. There is also a Legislative Council in each.

Bihar and Orissa is administered by a Lieutenant-Governor with an Executive Council. The United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, the Punjab, and Burma, are administered by Lieutenant-Governors, without an Executive Council. In each of these provinces there is a Legislative Council.

The head of the administration in the Central Provinces (including Berar), in Assam, in the North-West Frontier Province, and in Delhi, is a Chief Commissioner; there are Legislative Councils in the Central Provinces and Assam, but the remaining two provinces have no local Legislative Council, and all laws for them, and for the other provinces (named below) in which there are no Councils are made in the Council of the Governor General.

Baluchistan, Coorg, and Ajmer-Merwara are also administered by Chief Commissioners, the office being held ex-officio by members of the Political Service: by the Agent to the Governor General for Baluchistan, by the Resident in Mysore for Coorg, and by the Agent to the Governor General in Rajputana for Ajmer-Merwara. The Andaman Islands constitute an ex-officio Chief Commissionership, held by the Superintendent of the penal settlement of Port Blair.

The administrative unit in all the provinces is the district. At its head is an officer commonly known as the district officer, who is officially styled either Collector and Magistrate or Deputy Commissioner. In every district is a number of sub-divisions, each in charge of an officer subordinate to the district officer. In all provinces, except Madras, a number of districts is grouped to form a Commissionership or Division, the officer in charge of the Division (Commissioner) having general control of the district officers and forming a link of communication between them and the Provincial Government. There were in 1915-16 in British India (excluding the Andaman Islands) 47 Divisions or Commissionerships, 271 Districts, and 1,100 Sub-Divisions of districts. These cover an area of 1,017,850 square miles and contain a population of 243,620,000 according to the census of 1911.

For details including the names of towns with population in excess of 50,000 table No. 3 of the section entitled "Area and Population" may be referred to.

POLICE

(For tables see pages 48—65)

The district is the unit for police, as it is for executive and judicial administration. Each district has a force under the charge of a Superintendent aided by one or more Assistant Superintendents or Deputy Superintendents, and the police force of each province is under the control of an Inspector-General of Police aided by Deputy Inspectors-General. The total strength of the civil police force in 1915 was 948 officers of the rank of Deputy Superintendent or higher rank and 202,718 men and officers of lower rank than that of Deputy Superintendent. The total cost of this force was R6,35,97,157, of which R6,20,21,990 was payable from Imperial and Provincial revenues; the balance, R15,75,167 was paid from other funds and represents the cost of civil police employed in municipalities, cantonments, etc., and on railways.

Table 22 exhibits the facts relating to cognizable crime (i.e., a crime for which a police-officer may arrest without warrant) in British India. The Bengal Presidency with a population of 45,483,269 reported the largest number of cases (197,682) in 1915, against 186,659 in 1914, the Madras Presidency showed a numerical decrease by reporting 167,648 cases against 175,747, and the United Provinces 162,824 cases against 164,656 in the previous year. The actual number remaining for investigation depends to a large extent on the number of cases in which investigation was refused by the police, and the practice in this respect differs widely in different provinces. Thus in the United Provinces investigation was refused in 29 per cent of the cases reported in the year 1915, whereas in Madras investigation was refused in 2 per cent only, the average for the whole of British India being 10 per cent. The general ratio of acquittals to convictions in cognizable cases for the whole of British India is 1 to 11. The most noticeable deviations from this average are in Bengal where acquittals are at the rate of only 1 to 25 convictions, Bombay 1 to 15, Madras 1 to 13, and on the other side, Punjab 1 to 4, the Central Provinces and Berar and North-West Frontier Province 1 to 3.

In the case of non-cognizable crime (i.e., a crime for which a police-officer may not arrest without warrant) which is dealt with in Table 23, the number of cases that were dismissed without trial or ended in discharge or acquittal (294,914) exceeds the number that ended in conviction (289,082), and of those that actually came to trial, some 416,800, about one-half ended in discharge or acquittal or conviction. In the Punjab the number of cases that came to trial and ended in discharge or acquittal is nearly double the number that ended in conviction; and the number that were dismissed without trial is greater than the other two classes put together. The result is that in this province out of 116,261 cases for disposal there were only 16,527 cases ending in conviction. In Bengal, on the other hand, out of 141,534 cases for disposal there were 48,403 cases ending in conviction. The proportion of non-cognizable cases dismissed without trial in Burma is far lower than in any other province.

Table 24 shows the number of cases in which theft of property was reported and the number of cases in which the property was recovered. Over the whole of British India the number of cases in which property was recovered was 34·5 per cent of the number of cases in which property was stolen. Assam (31 per cent)

Bihar and Orissa (29·8 per cent), the United Provinces (28·9 per cent), Bengal (24·2 per cent), are the only provinces which fall below the standard. The value of the property recovered was 19·4 per cent of the total value of property stolen in British India. Bombay with 33·7 per cent has much the best figure in respect of the larger provinces.

Table 25 shows the strength and cost of the civil police in all provinces. The proportion of superior officers, i.e., Inspectors-General and Deputy Inspectors-General, Superintendents and Assistant and Deputy Superintendents, to subordinate officers and men varies in the different provinces. The proportion for the whole of British India in 1915 was 1 superior officer to 214 inferior officers and men.

The proportion of superior officers to inferior officers and men is much larger in Assam than in any other province, being 1 to 98. At the opposite end of the scale stands the Punjab where the proportion is 1 to 289. In Madras it is 1 to 288, in Bombay it is 1 to 253, in the United Provinces it is 1 to 240, in Bihar and Orissa it is 1 to 198, in Bengal it is 1 to 195, in the North-West Frontier Province it is 1 to 188, in the Central Provinces and Berar it is 1 to 182 and in Burma it is 1 to 118.

The average total cost per man of the whole Civil Police force of British India (officers included) is R312 per annum. The cost is greatest in Burma, R410, and least in the United Provinces, R257. The Punjab (R300), the Central Provinces and Berar (R300), the North-West Frontier Province (R274), Delhi (R306), Madras (R295), Bombay (R270) and Baluchistan (R276), are below the average for the whole of India. Bengal (R395), and Bihar and Orissa (R349) and Assam (R407) are above it.

The following table shows the number of true cognizable cases per 100,000 of the population, in each of the principal provinces :—

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Burma | 517 | United Provinces | 346 |
| Madras | 441 | Punjab | 333 |
| Bombay | 426 | Central Provinces and Berar | 258 |
| Bengal | 417 | North-West Frontier Province | 220 |
| Assam | 354 | Bihar and Orissa | 164 |

Table 26 deals with the equipment, discipline, and general internal management of the force. As regards armament, as might be expected, the police of Baluchistan, the North-West Frontier Province, and the Punjab are the most efficiently armed. In the North-West Frontier Province and Baluchistan there are nearly as many smooth-bores and rifles as men ; in Bombay and in the Punjab, however, there is one smooth-bore for every two constables. In other provinces, roughly speaking, firearms are provided for about 1 in 3 men.

Dismissals from the force in India during 1915 were 1·3 per cent of the actual strength of men. This proportion was exceeded in the following provinces : North-West Frontier Province (2·9), Bengal (2·03), Assam, Burma, and the Central Provinces (1·7 each). In the Punjab and Baluchistan the proportion was 1·2, in Madras 1·1, in Bihar and Orissa 1·04, in Delhi and Coorg 1 each, in the United Provinces, ·9, in Bombay ·8, and in Ajmer-Merwara ·7. Departmental punishments numbered 15 per cent of the total force in British India. The ratio of departmental punishments to the total number of men in Madras was 31 per cent, in Bihar and Orissa and Assam 26, and in Bengal 21. In other provinces departmental punishments range from 2 to 13 per cent.

As regards education, more than half the policemen in British India can read and write. In this respect the United Provinces and the North-West Frontier Province are far worse off than any other province, for the number of men who can read and write is only 24 per cent of the total actual strength of men in 1915. In Madras, on the other hand, about 89 per cent of the men can read and write. The percentages in the other principal provinces are as follows :—

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Burma | 83 | Bombay | 51 |
| Bihar and Orissa | 56 | Punjab | 35 |
| Bengal | 55 | Delhi | 32 |
| Central Provinces and Berar | 52 | Assam | 29 |

In the United Provinces 30 per cent of the men have 10 years' service or more and only 27 per cent of men have less than 3 years' service. Burma, on the other hand, has only 20 per cent of men with 10 years' service or more and has 37 per cent of men under 3 years' service.

Table 28 shows the strength and cost of the military police in British India. They are employed in Burma, Assam, Bihar and Orissa, Bengal, the North-West Frontier Province, and Baluchistan, and they numbered in 1915, 27,340 officers and men, of whom 16,482 or 60 per cent belonged to Burma. The total cost of this force amounted to R92,38,606, the cost in Burma being R59,88,204 or 65 per cent of the total.

Additional police employed temporarily during 1915 have not been included in Table 25. Their number is small, except in Bombay, where they were entertained for plague and other extra duties, in Bengal, Bihar and Orissa, and the Punjab, where they were employed on special duty to prevent breaches of the peace, in Burma, where they were engaged mainly as punitive police, and in Madras, where 1,047 out of 1,338 were on plague duty. The following statement shows the additional police in the different provinces :—

JAILS

(For tables see pages 66—90)

The daily average population of prisoners (including civil debtors) in jails in 1915 was 117,734, of whom 102,342 were convicted prisoners, the others being under-trial and civil prisoners. This average is higher than that of the preceding year by nine per cent.

The convicts, classified according to religion, stood as follows :—

| | 1915 | Percentage of Jail population | Percentage of free population (Census of 1911) |
|---|---|---|---|
| Hindus and Sikhs | 100,154 | 55·49 | 67·89 |
| Muhammadans | 55,699 | 30·86 | 23·49 |
| Buddhists and Jains | 17,982 | 9·96 | 4·55 |
| Christians :— | | | |
| European | 136 | ·08 | ·07 |
| Eurasian | 262 | ·14 | ·04 |
| Indian | 1,304 | ·72 | ·91 |
| | 1,702 | ·94 | 1·02 |
| Others | 4,966 | 2·75 | 3·05 |

As usual, the Muhammadan community contributed a disproportionately large number to the prison population. The provinces of Bengal and the Punjab, where there is a large Muhammadan population, accounted for 55 per cent of the convicted prisoners of that denomination ; while Bombay and the United Provinces combined contributed 23 per cent. The most disproportionate criminality, however, is to be found amongst the Buddhists (almost entirely Burmese), they being 1 in 10 of the prison population, whereas, they are only 1 in 23 of the general population.

The European element in the Christian convict prison population is to be found chiefly in Bengal and Bombay and is in the main composed of soldiers and sea-faring men. Of the Eurasians convicted and confined in 1915, 64 per cent were in the prisons of Bengal, and 6 per cent in those of Madras.

As many as 151,756 (84·1 per cent) of the prisoners admitted were illiterate ; of the rest 2,268 were able to read only, while 26,479 (14·7 per cent) were able both to read and write. The female prisoners were almost entirely illiterate, not more than 170 out of 6,306 being able to read and write, while 5 were able to read only.

The bulk of the male prisoners come from the rural labouring class, their occupations before imprisonment being described as " engaged in agriculture and cattle tending." There were 99,922 prisoners of this class in 1915, as compared with 92,272 in 1914, and 85,734 in 1913. The previous occupations of the other prisoners are thus described :—

| | 1913 | 1914 | 1915 |
|---|---|---|---|
| Domestic or personal service | 14,453 | 15,210 | 11,596 |
| Commerce and trade | 8,047 | 7,515 | 6,391 |
| Artisans and mechanics | 4,425 | 4,351 | 3,602 |
| Professional | 5,865 | 5,937 | 6,128 |
| Service of Government or local authorities | 3,668 | 3,611 | 4,631 |

Of the prisoners admitted in 1915, about one-fourth (45,065) were sentenced to terms not exceeding one month in duration; and 114,364, being 63 per cent of the whole, were sentenced to terms not exceeding six months. Of the new admissions, 35,508 or 20 per cent had been previously convicted.

The number of prisoners who escaped during the year was 91, of whom 55 were recaptured, leaving 36 still at large. Of the prisoners who escaped in the previous ten years 33 were recaptured, but there remain 129 still at large.

The number of youthful offenders under 15 years of age admitted to jail during 1915 was 418, as against 505 in the preceding year. The United Provinces, Bengal and the Punjab taken together account for some 54 per cent of the stated total, the United Provinces singly contributing 21 per cent. Seventy-eight of these juveniles had been previously convicted, the percentage to total number of prisoners of that class being 19 in 1915 as against 20 in the preceding year.

The recognition of the principle that a jail is no fitting place for adolescents (other than youthful habituals) who are over 15, and therefore ineligible for admission to the Reformatory School, has caused several local Governments to adopt a scheme for segregating young adults between the ages of 16 and 23 from other prisoners on the lines followed in the Borstal prison near Chatham. One great advantage claimed is that every boy is taught a useful trade and is provided with work on release, and is thus less likely to relapse into criminal habits. The system has been introduced in the provinces of Burma, Bengal, the United Provinces, Bihar and Orissa, the Punjab, the North-West Frontier Province, Bombay, and Madras, each of which has a Juvenile Jail. At these institutions great stress is laid on moral and religious instruction, a special feature is made of physical drill, but of course the essential part of the education is the training of the prisoners in handicrafts. Carpentry, black-smithing, shoe-making, tailoring, and weaving are some of the handicrafts taught to these juvenile convicts. The system has been working very satisfactorily, and that special attention is being paid to its improvement.

The number of offences committed by the convicts in jails during 1915 and the number of punishments inflicted on them were higher than in the preceding year, and the percentage of offences to daily average population has also decreased from 185·2 per cent in 1914 to 175·2 per cent in 1915. There was a decrease in the number of corporal punishments, from 352 in 1914 to 327 in the year under review.

The number of convicts released during the year, who gained remissions under the mark system, was 34,996, as compared with 33,090 in the preceding year; of these, 10,393 belonged to the United Provinces and 5,888 to Burma.

In the daily average strength (117,734) of the prison population in 1915, the daily average of sick was 3,132, and there were 2,147 deaths in the year, against 1,919 in the preceding year, which represents a death rate of 1·82 per cent, compared with 3 per cent for the free population.

The total cost of maintaining the prisons was R1,00,43,673, the principal items of expenditure being—

| | 1911 | 1912 | 1913 | 1914 | 1915 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | R | R | R | R | R |
| Dieting | 30,74,651 | 32,33,818 | 35,40,365 | 40,23,623 | 45,72,488 |
| Establishment | 28,90,269 | 29,94,930 | 30,01,987 | 30,65,853 | 30,76,465 |
| Clothing and bedding | 4,13,459 | 4,06,125 | 4,76,088 | 5,56,606 | 5,97,769 |
| Hospital charges | 3,40,577 | 3,25,708 | 3,82,787 | 4,14,972 | 4,97,565 |
| Moving prisoners | 2,39,044 | 2,36,545 | 2,48,561 | 2,60,450 | 2,79,228 |
| Sanitation | 1,50,302 | 1,50,494 | 1,60,001 | 1,78,580 | 1,76,792 |

Both the expenditure on dieting and the cost per head rose from R40,23,623 and R37·29 in 1914 to R45,72,488 and R38·97, respectively, in 1915. The increase is chiefly accounted for by the rise in the prices of foodstuffs during the year. Against the total cost is to be set R19,15,331 earned by the prisoners, making the net cost to Government, in 1915, R81 lakhs, compared with R64 lakhs (the lowest figure of the quinquennium). The chief remunerative industries are printing (including lithography), oil pressing, brick and tile making, carpentry and blacksmiths' work, carpet, durri, and blanket weaving, cloth and tent and paper making.

PORT BLAIR (PENAL SETTLEMENT)

(For tables see pages 91—95)

The population of the Settlement of Port Blair in the year 1915-16 was made up of the administrative establishment numbering 1,486, a free resident population of 3,420, and a convict population of 12,425. The total population was 17,331 against 16,914 in 1914-15.

The revenue of the Settlement is divided between the heads "Land Revenue," "Forest," and "Other heads." Forest revenue is now R4,22,399 or less than half of the whole; against this amount has to be set a debit of R4,73,714 on account of "Forest Establishment and Supplies;" there is thus a deficit of R51,315. The excess of expenditure over receipts in 1915-16 amounted to R14,06,813, as compared with R14,07,155 in 1914-15 and an average of R13,11,550 for the previous 8 years.

Eighty per cent of the convicts in the year under review are under sentence for life. Sixty-seven per cent of the total number were sentenced for murder and sixteen per cent for dacoity.

The average annual number of escapes effected by male convicts in the last ten years is 51. The average annual number of recaptures is 36. There is thus an average of 15 who were not recaptured. The number of convicts who escaped in 1915-16 was 61, as compared with 78 in the previous year.

As regards religion, the convict population is classified under the heads Hindus, Muhammadans, Buddhists, and other religions. The proportions are Hindus 54 per cent, Muhammadans 25, Buddhists 18, and other religions 3. The proportion borne by each religion to the total population of British India is as follows :—

|---|---|
| Hindus | 67 |
| Muhammadans | 24 |
| Buddhists | 4 |
| Others | 5 |

The number of Buddhists is relatively very large, and this is in a measure due to the system under which long term Burmese prisoners are deported to the Settlement. In addition to these there are 53 Christian convicts, 51 being Indians and 2 Eurasians.

Classified according to their former occupation or state, the convict population is divided as follows :—

| | Per cent |
|---|---|
| Males— | |
| Agriculturists | 57 |
| Labourers | 14 |
| Artisans | 5 |
| Domestic servants | 4 |
| Shopkeepers | 3 |
| Government servants | 2 |
| Boatmen and fishermen | 1 |
| Others | 9 |
| Females | 5 |

The ratio of deaths per mille in 1915 was 45·0 as against 25·2 in 1914. This may be compared with the ratio of deaths per mille of the population of 15 years of age and over in the principal provinces of India which was :—

| | Per mille |
|---|---|
| Bombay | 21 |
| Madras | 18 |
| Bengal | 29 |
| Bihar and Orissa | 26 |
| United Provinces | 21 |
| Punjab | 29 |

REGISTRATION

(For tables see pages 96—115)

The number of registrations affecting immovable property was 4,041,568 in 1915, as compared with 3,916,503 in the preceding year. The bulk of the instruments registered are documents relating to the sale, mortgage, or lease of immovable property, the registration of which is compulsory by law. This class (3,856,019) made up practically 95 per cent of the total in 1915 ; while optional registration affecting immovable property numbered 185,549 and represented the balance of 5 per cent. Besides these, there were 332,749 registrations affecting movable property as against 321,060 in 1914.

Mortgages form the largest class of instruments registered. Fluctuations in the number of mortgages depend to a very considerable extent on the harvests in the different provinces, a bad harvest usually causing a rise in the number of mortgages. The figures for the last ten years are as follows :—

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1906 | 1,212,533 | 1911 | 1,345,384 |
| 1907 | 1,284,935 | 1912 | 1,453,671 |
| 1908 | 1,410,152 | 1913 | 1,509,644 |
| 1909 | 1,447,765 | 1914 | 1,538,970 |
| 1910 | 1,349,024 | 1915 | 1,669,838 |

The figures for the last ten years for registrations of all sales of immovable property are as follows :—

| | Under R100 | Over R100 | | Under R100 | Over R100 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1906 | 580,304 | 572,946 | 1911 | 551,998 | 681,248 |
| 1907 | 573,610 | 606,066 | 1912 | 580,650 | 755,952 |
| 1908 | 596,266 | 638,238 | 1913 | 573,019 | 791,804 |
| 1909 | 599,622 | 669,870 | 1914 | 548,456 | 781,709 |
| 1910 | 549,222 | 658,752 | 1915 | 588,945 | 790,890 |

The value of immovable and movable property transferred in the same period has been :—

| | Movable | Immovable | | Movable | Immovable |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | R | R | | R | R |
| 1906 | 6,65,66,933 | 89,93,23,136 | 1911 | 8,09,99,190 | 1,07,32,63,985 |
| 1907 | 6,93,02,541 | 96,26,61,000 | 1912 | 8,54,58,681 | 1,20,76,96,187 |
| 1908 | 7,16,98,228 | 1,03,33,64,173 | 1913 | 8,42,33,373 | 1,32,61,57,124 |
| 1909 | 7,20,30,451 | 1,05,06,38,707 | 1914 | 8,50,70,523 | 1,31,96,63,061 |
| 1910 | 7,49,74,918 | 1,06,37,01,895 | 1915 | 9,69,54,388 | 1,28,51,08,330 |

Premia or fines paid on leases are included in the value of immovable property transferred. The total value of the premia in 1915 was R1,52,26,549, Bengal contributing 44 per cent, Bihar and Orissa 23 per cent, the Central Provinces and Berar 12 per cent, Madras 8 per cent, Bombay 7 per cent, and the United Provinces 4 per cent.

The receipts of the Department in 1915 were nearly R75 lakhs, and the charges R39 lakhs, or 53 per cent of the receipts. The following statement shows the percentage of the total receipts and charges contributed by the principal provinces and the ratio of expenditure to receipts :—

| | Percentage of total receipts | Percentage of total expenditure | Ratio of expenditure to receipts |
|---|---|---|---|
| Madras | 31 | 35 | 60·3 |
| Bengal | 26 | 27 | 54·3 |
| Bihar and Orissa | 10 | 9 | 51·3 |
| Bombay | 10 | 10 | 49·6 |
| Burma | 3 | 3 | 47·0 |
| United Provinces | 10 | 8 | 44·1 |
| Punjab | 5 | 4 | 41·3 |
| Central Provinces and Berar | 5 | 4 | 36·3 |

PRESSES AND PUBLICATIONS

(For tables see page 116)

The following statistics show the growth in the number of printing presses and in their output in the 36 years ending 1915-16, with index numbers (the average of the 10 years 1901-02 to 1910-11 being taken as 100) :—

| | Presses | Newspapers | Periodicals | Books published: In English or other European languages | Books published: In Indian languages (modern or classical) |

The number of Indian vernacular or classical books is seven times as large as the number of books printed in English or in other European languages.

The fertility of the Bengal presses is noticeable as regards the production of books (numbering 2,562 in 1915-16) which outnumber those produced in any other province. Madras stood second with 2,421, followed by the United Provinces, Bombay, and the Punjab with 2,037, 1,902, and 1,659, respectively. In the number of newspapers, Madras stood first; Bengal stood second, followed by Bombay, and the United Provinces. As compared with the figures for 1914-15, the number of newspapers published decreased in almost all the provinces except Bengal, Madras, and the Punjab, where there were numerical increases of 33, 6, and 22, respectively.

In the subjects of the books published in 1915 religion holds the first place, poetry and the drama being second :

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Religion | 3,339 | Medicine | 464 |
| Poetry and drama | 2,347 | Law | 425 |
| Language | 1,584 | Mathematics and mechanics | 314 |
| Fiction | 1,009 | Philosophy | 186 |
| History (including geography) and biography | 710 | | |

The languages in which the books are written are extremely diverse. The following list states the number published in 1915 in the principal languages :—

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| English | 2,441 | Uriya | 462 |
| Bengali | 1,981 | Sindhi | 172 |

| Marathi | 877 | Arabic | 53 |
| Telugu | 730 | Persian | 48 |
| Punjabi | 572 | Pali | 25 |
| Sanskrit | 460 | | |

And smaller numbers in thirty-eight other languages, besides 1,656 bilingual, 155 trilingual, and 20 polyglot books.

The languages employed in the composition of bilingual publications of 1915 are mainly Sanskrit, English, Arabic, Bengali, Urdu, and Hindi, Sanskrit being in most common use :

EMIGRATION

(For tables see pages 117—122)

The figures in these tables relate to indentured emigration carried on under the Indian Emigration Act (XXI of 1883 repealed by XVII of 1908) and rules framed thereunder relating to the emigration of natives of India. But certain persons who proceed to the colonies or other foreign countries without coming under the operation of the Emigration Act, as for instance, in the capacity of shop assistants or personal domestic servants, are included in the statistics. The figures take no account of the numbers who leave India as passengers under the Native Passenger Ships Act, nor of persons who leave India on pilgrimage to the holy places in Arabia under the Pilgrim Ships Act (of whom small but uncertain numbers settle out of India), nor of persons who go out of, or come out to, India by ship as ordinary passengers every year. Passengers under the Native Passenger Ships Act and pilgrims under the Pilgrim Ships Act are separately dealt with in the sections entitled " Passengers by Native Passenger Ships " and " Pilgrims by Pilgrim Ships," respectively. No statistics are available regarding ordinary passengers.

The number of " Emigrants " in the sense explained above, who left annually during the decennium 1906-07 to 1915-16, and the number of returned emigrants during the same period, amounted to—

| | Number emigrated | Number returned | Expressed in index numbers taking 1913-14 as equal to 100 | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | | | Emigrated | Returned |
| 1906-07 | 21,003 | 8,197 | 272 | 155 |
| 1907-08 | 15,117 | 6,774 | 195 | 128 |
| 1908-09 | 11,844 | 7,918 | 153 | 150 |
| 1909-10 | 11,644 | 6,909 | 151 | 131 |
| 1910-11 | 15,439 | 5,788 | 200 | 110 |
| 1911-12 | 14,192 | 6,299 | 184 | 119 |
| 1912-13 | 12,658 | 4,641 | 164 | 88 |
| 1913-14 | 7,733 | 5,284 | 100 | 100 |
| 1914-15 | 3,285 | 6,289 | 42 | 119 |
| 1915-16 | 7,630 | 6,047 | 99 | 114 |

The average annual number of emigrants for the decennium is 12,054 and the average number of emigrants that returned in that period is 6,415. Natal used to receive the largest number of emigrants, but emigration to that colony has been prohibited by the Government of India with effect from 1st July 1911. There has been no emigration to Mauritius since 1912, it having been decided by the Secretary of State for the Colonies, after consideration of the recommendations of the Committee on Emigration from India to the Crown Colonies, that the system of introducing Indian labourers into that Colony under indenture should be discontinued. In 1915-16, 2,509 emigrants left for Fiji, 1,511 for Demerara, 1,905 for Trinidad, 187 for Mombasa. The emigration to Fiji was the largest during the last three years.

The ports at present used for the despatch of the emigrants are Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, and Karachi. In 1915-16, 3,901 emigrants, or 51 per cent of the total number leaving India, were shipped from Calcutta. By far the greater part of these came from the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, which between them accounted for some 3,455. Demerara, Fiji, and Trinidad are the principal countries to which emigrants from Calcutta were sent. The number of coolies who left Madras was 2,761 or 36 per cent of the total, 1,115 for Fiji, 909 for Trinidad, and 737 for British Guiana. They were drawn from a large number of districts in Madras, the largest number being supplied by Malabar, North Arcot, and Chingleput. For several years now the number of emigrants leaving India viâ Bombay has been insignificant. In 1915-16 the total number was only 636, of whom 146 went to Mombasa and 476 to the Persian Gulf Ports. Karachi appeared for the first time as an emigration port in the year 1897-98, when 330 emigrants were despatched to Mombasa for work on the Uganda Railway. In the three following years over 27,000 male labourers left Karachi for this purpose. Since then only a few artisans recruited for the Uganda Railway have left Karachi. The emigrants from Karachi come mainly from the Punjab and Sind.

The number of emigrants leaving in any one year appears to be based on the demand for labour rather than on any internal causes in India, for no close connection can be traced between the prices of food-grains in India or the birth-rate in the different provinces and the number of emigrants.

PASSENGERS BY NATIVE PASSENGER SHIPS.

(For tables see pages 123—128)

Under the Native Passenger Ships Act (X of 1887) the term "Native Passenger Ships" is applied to sailing ships, which carry as passengers more than thirty natives of Asia or Africa, and to steam-ships carrying more than sixty such natives. Local Governments have discretionary power, with the sanction of the Governor-General in Council, to alter these numbers to fifteen and thirty, respectively.

A long voyage is defined in the Act as a voyage in which the ship will, in ordinary circumstances, be continuously out of port for one hundred and twenty hours or more, and a short voyage as one in which the ship will not, in ordinary circumstances, be continuously out of port for one hundred and twenty hours. The space allotted to passengers, and some other conditions differ in a long and a short voyage.

The total number of persons who left Indian ports in native passenger ships, under the Act, X of 1887, that is, who left as passengers, being neither emigrants to the Colonies or elsewhere nor pilgrims to the holy places in Arabia, was:

| | | Long Voyages | | Short Voyages | | Total |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | | In India | Out of India | In India | Out of India | |
| In the five years ending | 1895-96 | 97,558 | 134,830 | 5,831,522 | 347,216 | 6,411,126 |
| „ „ | 1900-01 | 88,450 | 190,476 | 5,790,712 | 643,401 | 6,713,039 |
| „ „ | 1905-06 | 138,477 | 213,426 | 7,465,262 | 804,523 | 8,621,688 |
| „ „ | 1910-11 | 198,291 | 102,208 | 10,330,474 | 1,187,440 | 11,818,413 |
| „ „ | 1915-16 | 200,880 | 137,216 | 10,450,853 | 1,407,815 | 12,196,764 |

The number in each of the last five years was:—

| | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1911-12 | 39,292 | 27,346 | 2,177,924 | 281,686 | 2,526,248 |
| 1912-13 | 47,034 | 26,349 | 2,192,725 | 327,888 | 2,593,996 |
| 1913-14 | 46,197 | 40,764 | 2,351,070 | 321,995 | 2,760,026 |
| 1914-15 | 40,057 | 21,478 | 1,839,448 | 211,830 | 2,112,813 |
| 1915-16 | 28,300 | 21,279 | 1,889,686 | 264,416 | 2,203,681 |

Of the total number of passengers (namely, 2,439,353) carried annually in the last five years, 97·2 per cent or nearly 2·4 millions, on an average, were carried on short voyages, and the remainder (67,619), or 2·8 per cent, on long voyages. About 12·7 per cent of the passengers voyaged to ports out of India, that is, approximately 309,000 on an average left India annually, and about $2\frac{1}{8}$ millions or 87·3 per cent moved within the limits of Indian waters.

Burma sends a large number of passengers on long voyage to the port of Madras and to Cocanada.

As regards short voyage movements, during the last five years, the bulk of the traffic (1,523,199) was between ports within the same province, and only 566,972 passengers emigrated from their own provinces in search of work in other provinces, and 281,563 left on short voyage to ports out of India. The improvement in wages for cooly labour in the Straits Settlements has attracted increasing numbers of emigrants from Madras in recent years.

The migrations from province to province are practically limited to voyages undertaken by coolies from Madras and Bengal to Burma for work as harvesters and in the rice-mills, and to the return voyages of these coolies at the end of the working season.

The numbers leaving Madras for Ceylon on short voyages, chiefly for employment in the tea plantations, vary according to seasonal conditions on the East Coast of the province. In 1915-16 the total reached 164,000. There has been a considerable increase in recent years in the number leaving Bombay and Karachi for the Persian Gulf on short voyages, owing to the facilities extended to the public by additional mail steamers running between these ports and the Gulf and vice versâ.

Of the total passengers (285,695), who went to places beyond India in 1915-16, both on long and short voyages, more than half went from the Madras Presidency to Ceylon (164,151) and less than a third to the Straits Settlements (83,391), the bulk of the remainder going from Bombay and Karachi to the Persian Gulf (10,963), Mombasa (2,699), Zanzibar (932), and Aden (486), from Burma to the Straits Settlements (4,938) and Amoy (3,582), and from Bengal to the Straits (6,758).

PILGRIMS BY PILGRIM SHIPS

(For tables see page 129.)

This table presents a record of the number of pilgrims who left, and of those who returned to, India during each of the ten years 1906-07 to 1915-16 under the provisions of the Pilgrim Ships Act, XIV of 1895. A pilgrim is defined in that Act as " a Muhammadan passenger going to, or returning from, the Hedjaz " and a pilgrim ship means " a ship conveying or about to convey pilgrims from or to any portion in British India to or from any port in the Red Sea other than Suez." Consequently the statistics presented, state the number of Muhammadans who left India by pilgrim ships on pilgrimage to the Hedjaz and of those who returned therefrom to India as passengers on board the pilgrim ships.

The bulk of the pilgrims sailing from India consists of Muhammadans from India, Afghans or Bokharis and Arabs forming a small proportion of the total.

The difference between the number who left and the number who returned to India, which appears from the table, is accounted for partly by death and partly by a section of the pilgrims, notably destitute pilgrims, either remaining in the Holy Places or returning to India either by land or in vessels other than pilgrim ships.

Pilgrimage from India was greatly restricted until the year 1903-04, owing to difficulties associated with the prevalence of plague, the principal ones being the hardships of quarantine before embarkation and the inaccessibility of Chittagong which was then the principal authorised port of embarkation. On the re-opening of the pilgrim camp at the port of Bombay in 1903, a strong spurt was given to the traffic.

JUDICIAL DIVISIONS

(For tables see pages 130—131)

The highest legal tribunals in India are the High Courts of Judicature established by Royal Charter in Bengal (including Assam), Bihar and Orissa, Madras, Bombay, and the Province of Agra. The Punjab and Burma have each a Chief Court, deriving its authority from the Indian Legislature. In other provinces, viz., the Central Provinces, Oudh, Upper Burma, Sind, North-West Frontier Province, Ajmer-Merwara, and Coorg, there are one or more Judicial Commissioners appointed by the Government of India. These courts and officers are vested with full powers regarding the administration of civil and criminal justice in the territories under their respective jurisdiction. The Code of Criminal Procedure provides for the constitution of inferior criminal courts in each province, styled courts of Sessions and courts of Magistrates. Trials before courts of Sessions are conducted with the aid of assessors or jurors, according to the orders of the Local Government. Every province—outside a Presidency town—is divided into sessions divisions, consisting of one or more districts. Provision is also made for the appointment of honorary magistrates, for the formation of benches of magistrates, honorary or stipendiary, and for the appointment in the Presidency towns of Presidency Magistrates, to try minor offences. The constitution and jurisdiction of the inferior civil courts vary. Broadly speaking, one district Judge is appointed for each district. Next come the subordinate Judges and Munsifs, and there is in addition a number of courts of small causes.

For the purpose of the judicial administration of the country, the provinces are thus divided in a manner which corresponds closely to the executive divisions. The actual number of judicial officers is not ascertainable from the tables, but the number of officers of various degrees exercising jointly or severally civil and criminal jurisdiction was as follows in 1915 :—

| | | I Judges of Chief Court of Province | II Judges of other Courts superior to Chief District Courts | III Judges of Chief Courts of Districts | IV Judges of District Courts other than Chief Courts | V Judges of other Subordinate Courts | TOTAL |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Territory subject to High (or Chief) Courts | Civil | 59 | 8 | 143 | 372 | 1,117 | 1,699 |
| | Criminal | 59 | 74 | 191 | 369 | 5,726 | 6,419 |
| Territory subject to Judicial Commissioners | Civil | 11 | 11 | 72 | 111 | 441 | 646 |
| | Criminal | 11 | 50 | 60 | 220 | 967 | 1,308 |

| | Criminal | 4 | .. | 20 | 21 | 156 | 201 |

The personnel of class V is mainly Indian, and there are many Indians amongst the judges of the superior courts, including the High Courts. In 1915 these officers decided 4,953,000 cases, classed as stated in the margin. Civil cases represented more than two-thirds (71 per cent) of the whole number ; regular civil cases formed 45 per cent, and 3 per cent of these were appeals. Criminal cases represented 29 per cent of the whole number,

| | |
|---|---|
| Civil jurisdiction— | |
| Original cases | 3,426,000 |
| Appeals | 111,000 |
| Criminal jurisdiction— | |
| Original cases | 1,321,000 |
| Appeals | 95,000 |

regular cases being 25 per cent, and in these the ratio of appeals was 7 per cent. The distribution of the civil original cases and the ratio to population was as follows, as regards the larger provinces :—

| | 1915 | Ratio to population |
|---|---|---|
| Madras | 1,228,000 | 1 case in 34 persons |
| Bengal | 749,000 | 1 „ 61 „ |
| United Provinces | 353,000 | 1 „ 134 „ |
| Bombay | 330,000 | 1 „ 59 „ |
| Punjab | 254,000 | 1 „ 79 „ |
| Bihar and Orissa | 193,000 | 1 „ 179 „ |
| Central Provinces and Berar | 127,000 | 1 „ 110 „ |
| Burma | 80,000 | 1 „ 151 „ |
| Assam | 50,000 | 1 „ 134 „ |
| North-West Frontier Province | 39,000 | 1 „ 56 „ |

The receipts of the courts amounted in 1915 to R5,86,34,000, while the charges were R5,23,73,000. The average annual receipts in the five years ending 1915 were R5,40,03,000 and the charges R4,84,06,000.

CIVIL JUSTICE

(For tables see pages 132—143)

The average number of suits instituted annually in the Civil Courts in the last five years is 2,096,000. The figure for 1915 is 2,226,468, as against 2,055,272 in 1914 and 2,070,188 in 1913.

Suits for money or movable property make up two-thirds of the total, and suits under the Rent Law are more than one-half of the remainder. The figures for 1915 with the percentage of each class are stated in the margin. Relatively to the population the province of Bengal appears to be the most litigious province in India, and Madras and the Punjab come next. The United Provinces of Agra and Oudh are the least litigious of all. The marginal table shows the total number of suits instituted and the proportion of suits per 1,000 of the population in each province in 1915. The proportion which each class of suit bears to the total number instituted varies very widely in different provinces. Thus in Burma suits for money or movable property are 91 per cent of the total number, whereas in Bengal the proportion is nearly 44 per cent. On the other hand, suits under the Rent Law are 46 per cent of the total number instituted in Bengal.

|---|---|---|
| For money or movable property | 1,548,359 | 69·5 |
| Under the Rent Law | 426,112 | 19·1 |
| For immovable property | 114,154 | 5·1 |
| On mortgages | 79,817 | 3·6 |
| For specific relief | 25,044 | 1·1 |
| Others | 32,982 | 1·5 |

| | Number | Per 1,000, of population |
|---|---|---|
| Bengal | 664,869 | 14·6 |
| Madras | 533,242 | 12·9 |
| Punjab | 199,166 | 10·2 |
| North-West Frontier Province | 28,926 | 9·3 |
| Bombay | 162,417 | 8·3 |
| Central Provinces and Berar | 110,502 | 7·9 |
| Burma | 72,396 | 6·8 |
| Assam | 42,643 | 6·4 |
| Bihar and Orissa | 176,615 | 5·1 |
| United Provinces | 213,298 | 4·5 |

The suits instituted in 1915 involved a money value of R47,33,16,511. Fifty-four per cent of the total number of suits instituted were for amounts not exceeding R50, and 95 per cent of the whole number were for sums not exceeding R500. The number of suits included in the total which were tried in the Courts of Small Causes amounted to 328,980. The proportion of cases tried by Small Cause Courts in the different provinces varies very largely. The greatest number of suits instituted in these Courts was in the United Provinces where the total was 115,464. This represents nearly 64 per cent of all the suits instituted for money or movable property in the province. In Bombay the percentage is 35, in Bengal it is 15 ; but in the Punjab only 7 per cent of the total number of suits for money or movable property were instituted in Small Cause Courts. The number and value of the suits instituted in 1915 together with the proportion which each class bears to the total are stated below :—

| | Number | Percentage |
|---|---|---|
| Value not exceeding R10 | 309,505 | 13·9 |
| „ above R10 and not exceeding R50 | 900,766 | 40·5 |
| „ above R50 and not exceeding R100 | 431,983 | 19·4 |
| „ above R100 and not exceeding R500 | 476,916 | 21·4 |
| „ above R500 and not exceeding R1,000 | 56,453 | 2·5 |
| „ above R1,000 and not exceeding R5,000 | 37,934 | 1·7 |
| „ above R5,000 and not exceeding R10,000 | 3,856 | ·2 |
| „ exceeding R10,000 | 2,907 | ·1 |

Of the total number of suits disposed of in the course of 1915 some 24 per cent were contested. The marginal table shows the manner in which the total number of suits was disposed of in 1915. Thus nearly 85 per cent of the total number of suits disposed of during the year came to trial, and the result indicates that the proportion of unjustified litigation is not high. The decision went entirely in favour of the defendant

| | Number | Percentage to Total |
|---|---|---|
| Without trial | 318,386 | 15·1 |
| Without contest | 1,262,034 | 59·9 |
| Arbitration | 9,657 | ·5 |
| With contest | 515,696 | 24·5 |

either by dismissal ex parte or by arbitration or by judgment for the defendant, in nearly 6 per cent of the total number of suits disposed of. The plaintiff, on the other hand, got a decree either in whole or in part, or a compromise in nearly 79 per cent of the total number of suits disposed of. The result of the cases which came to trial and were disposed of during 1915 is as follows :—

| | Number | Percentage to total number of suits disposed of |
|---|---|---|
| Compromised | 273,087 | 13·0 |
| Decreed on confession | 157,820 | 7·5 |
| „ ex parte | 816,368 | 38·8 |
| Arbitration for plaintiff | 7,496 | ·4 |
| Judgment in favour of plaintiff | 405,105 | 19·2 |
| Dismissed ex parte | 14,759 | ·7 |
| Arbitration for defendant | 2,161 | ·1 |
| Judgment in favour of defendant | 110,591 | 5·3 |

Nearly eighty-one per cent of the appeals preferred were contested, the remainder being summarily dismissed under Section 551 or dismissed for default or heard ex parte. The result of the appeals was to modify or reverse the decree in 26 per cent of the total number of cases; the appeals were dismissed or the decrees confirmed in nearly 67 per cent. The remainder of the appeals, 6 per cent was remanded to lower Courts.

The average duration of suits varies much from year to year and in each province. For example, the average in Madras during 1915 for contested cases was 304 days and for uncontested cases 75 days, while in the North-West Frontier Province the figures were 31 and 21 respectively. The duration of regular appeals from decrees is much greater. The average number of days during which these appeals lasted in 1915 was 401 in Madras, 364 in Bombay, 303 in Bengal, and 310 in Assam.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE

(For tables see pages 144—153)

The number of offences reported in 1915 was 1,603,075 in a population amounting to 243,621,778. Of this number 1,329,419 cases were returned as true and 1,207,878 were brought to trial. The number of persons concerned amounted to 2,038,780. Of these, 966,096 were acquitted or discharged and 993,375 convicted, the others having died, escaped, or remained untried at the end of the year.

The statistics for the year under review continue to show a marked increase in criminality. In 1899 the number of total convictions recorded was 884,330, or 38 per 10,000 of the population; in 1904 the figures were 837,388, or 36 per 10,000; in 1908 the figures stood at 854,709 or 37 per 10,000; in 1915 the convictions had increased to 993,375 or 41 per 10,000.

The following table shows the number of true cases of Robbery and Dacoity per 1,000,000 of population in the major provinces of British India :—

| | Average number of true cases of Robbery and Dacoity | Number per 1,000,000 of population |
|---|---|---|
| North-West Frontier Province | 225 | 72 |
| Burma | 554 | 52 |
| Punjab | 573 | 29 |
| Madras | 966 | 23 |
| Bombay | 393 | 20 |
| United Provinces | 743 | 16 |
| Bengal | 425 | 9 |
| Central Provinces and Berar | 120 | 8 |
| Assam | 39 | 6 |
| Bihar and Orissa | 185 | 5 |

Of the total number (993,375) of persons convicted in 1915 nearly three-fourths—713,975—were convicted for offences under special and local laws such as, Cruelty to Animals Acts, Hackney Carriages Act, Municipalities Acts, Police (town) Acts, Press Acts, Railways Acts, Registration of Births and Deaths Acts, and various other minor Acts. Of the remainder (279,400) more than a half belonged to the principal categories noted in the margin. The following tabular statement shows

|---|---|
| Affecting life | 5,941 |
| Inflicting hurt | 44,320 |
| Criminal force and assault | 15,540 |
| Theft | 70,309 |
| Robbery and Dacoity | 6,121 |
| Criminal trespass | 29,682 |
| Total | 171,913 |

the number of persons convicted for certain serious crimes, province by province :—

The punishments inflicted on the persons tried by the Courts in 1915 were :

| | |
|---|---|
| Death | 650 |
| Transportation | 2,233 |
| Rigorous imprisonment | 144,715 |
| Simple „ | 17,938 |
| Fine | 760,568 |
| Whipping | 10,514 |

The amount of fines imposed during 1915, was R59,99,064, of which 82 per cent (R49,27,790) was realised besides R5,10,822 paid by way of compensation.

Appeals were lodged in 1915 by 202,030 persons against the decision in their cases, and the appeals were rejected or sentences confirmed in the case of 135,735 persons, being 67 per cent of the whole. The sentences were reversed or the proceedings quashed in the case of 28,024 persons, being 14 per cent of the whole, while in the case of 9,258 persons a new trial was ordered, and the sentences on 14,868 persons were reduced or otherwise altered. Sentences in the case of 388 persons only were enhanced by the higher Courts. The cases of 2,005 persons were referred for revision to the High Courts and the cases of 11,473 appellants remained pending trial at the end of the year.

MEDICO-LEGAL INVESTIGATIONS

(For tables see page 154)

The Government Chemical Examiners are largely employed in the analyse required for the detection of poison administered to human beings and to animals. There were 3,068 such cases, in which human beings were supposed to have been poisoned, referred to them in 1915, the average number in the last five years being 3,076. Poison was detected in 1,692 cases or 55 per cent. Bengal and the Punjab are the two provinces in which such cases occur (or are reported) most frequently, as will be seen from the figures for 1914 and 1915 appended :

| | 1914 | 1915 |
|---|---|---|
| Bengal (including Bihar and Orissa and Assam) | 565 | 535 |
| Punjab | 438 | 444 |
| United and Central Provinces | 274 | 257 |
| Burma | 134 | 196 |
| Bombay | 130 | 121 |
| Madras | 116 | 91 |
| North-West Frontier Province | 41 | 48 |

Arsenic is the poison most commonly employed. The articles in which this poison was detected numbered 1,432 in 1915, other inorganic poisons being used with relative infrequency. Of organic poisons, the favourite is opium which was detected in 970 articles, but it is mainly used by suicides. Datura and aconite follow next, with 227 and 83 articles respectively ; but the use of datura as a poison, with disabling, not necessarily with murderous intent, is much more common than is indicated by the number of cases referred to the Chemical Examiners. Opium is the most common form of poison used in the Punjab, Bengal, and the United Provinces, while cases in which datura is the agent are rare except in the Punjab, the United Provinces, and Burma. Mercury comes next after arsenic in Madras and it is also largely resorted to in the Punjab and Bengal. Strychnine was detected in 66 articles in 1915.

Of animal-poisoning there were 922 cases in 1915, a decrease of 18 as compared with the preceding year's figures. Poison was detected in 609 cases or 66 per cent. Arsenic is the agent almost always employed for cattle poisoning.

MUNICIPALITIES

(For tables see pages 155—194)

The system of Municipal administration, as it now exists in British India, is an exotic institution, and for the most part of comparatively recent introduction. It had a much earlier origin in the Presidency towns than in the interior of the country. In 1687 the East India Company established a corporation and mayor's court in Madras with a mayor, aldermen, and burgesses, who were empowered to levy taxes for the interest, security, and defence of the corporation and inhabitants, etc. The people, however, strenuously resisted the imposition of anything in the nature of a direct tax, and the mayor had to ask for permission to levy an octroi duty on certain articles of consumption so that he might provide the necessary funds for cleaning the streets. In 1726 a mayor's court, with aldermen but no burgesses, was established in each of the three Presidency towns, mainly according to the practice already existing in Madras; but these courts were intended to exercise judicial rather than administrative functions. The first statutory enforcement of Municipal administration is contained in the Charter Act of 1793. This Act empowered the Governor-General to appoint justices of the peace for the Presidency towns from among the Company's servants and other British inhabitants. In addition to their judicial duties the justices of the peace were expressly authorised to provide for scavenging, watching, and repairing the streets, the expenditure on which was to be defrayed by an assessment on houses and lands. Between 1840 and 1853 the municipal constitutions were widened, and the elective principle was introduced to a very limited extent; but in 1856 a different policy prevailed, and all municipal functions were concentrated in a body corporate consisting of three nominated and salaried members. After the passing of the Councils Act in 1861 the system of municipal Government was remodelled by the local legislatures; and from this point onwards the history in each Presidency town is different, and leads through a series of Acts to those now in force, namely, the Bombay Act of 1888, the Calcutta Act of 1899, and the Madras Act of 1904. The system of election of representatives by the ratepayers was first established in Bombay, Calcutta, and Madras by Acts passed in the years 1872, 1876, and 1878, respectively.

Outside the Presidency towns there was practically no attempt at municipal legislation before 1842. In that year an Act was passed, applicable only to Bengal, to enable the inhabitants of any place of public resort or residence to make better provision for purposes connected with public health and convenience. This Act was far in advance of the times. Based on the voluntary principle, it could take effect in no place except on the application of two-thirds of the house-holders, and as the taxation enforcible under it was of a direct character the law nowhere met with popular acceptance. The next attempt at municipal legislation for country towns was made in 1850 by an Act which applied to the whole of British India. This Act was also permissive in its nature, but it was more workable than its predecessor, and, unlike it, made provision for taxation by indirect methods. The Report of the Royal Army Sanitary Commission published in 1863 directed prominent attention to the unhealthy condition of towns. The need for more extensive municipal measures was recognised, and various Acts were passed in the different provinces between 1864 and 1868 providing for the appointment of Commissioners to manage municipal affairs and authorising the levy of various taxes. As a measure of local self-government these Acts did not proceed far, but they were of great service in improving the sanitary condition of the towns. Lord Mayo's Government, however, passed new Municipal Acts for Madras in 1871, for Bombay, Bengal, the North-Western Provinces, the Punjab, and the Central Provinces in 1873, and for Burma in 1874. These Acts widened the sphere of municipal usefulness and extended the elective principle. The election was not, however, brought into practical operation in many places, and the Central Provinces was the only portion of India in which popular representation was generally and successfully introduced. Matters stood thus, when, in 1881-82, the Government of Lord Ripon issued orders which had the effect of greatly extending the principle of local self-government. The principles laid down in these orders govern the administration of municipalities to the present day.

Municipal functions are classified under the heads of public safety, health, convenience, and instruction. In order that these functions may be carried out, various powers are conferred on Municipal Committees by the Municipal Acts and the by-laws framed under them.

About two-thirds of the aggregate municipal income is derived from taxation, and the remainder from municipal property and powers other than taxation, contributions from Provincial revenues and miscellaneous sources. The principal heads of taxation are octroi; taxes on houses and lands, animals and vehicles, and professions and trades; tolls on roads and ferries; and water, lighting, and conservancy rates. Other items of revenue are proceeds of municipal lands and buildings, conservancy receipts (other than the rate), educational and medical fees, receipts from markets and slaughter houses, and interest on investments.

The expenditure on the Municipalities cannot always be met from ordinary revenues which are often small except in the Presidency towns. In order to carry out large projects such as water-supply, drainage, etc., the municipalities have therefore generally to borrow money either from the Government or in the open market on the security of their funds. But Municipalities have in general been unable to obtain money in the market on reasonable terms and their borrowings have been almost entirely from Government. Under the arrangements now in force Local Governments have a loan account with the Imperial Treasury on which they pay interest at the rate of 3½ per cent. From the balance of this account they advance municipal and other loans at a rate of interest which may not be less than 4 per cent. The period of repayment, may not exceed twenty years except under very special circumstances, and may in no case exceed thirty.

The number of Municipalities with their total income and expenditure (in lakhs of rupees) in each of the provinces in British India in 1915-16 are stated in the margin. There were altogether 713 Municipalities in British India in the year 1915-16, containing a total resident population of more than 17 million people within their limits. This figure represents 7 per cent of the total population of British India. Of the stated Municipalities 521 had a population of less than 20,000 and the remaining 192, a population of 20,000 and above. So far as major provinces are concerned, the population resident within municipal limits as compared with the total population of the Province is largest in Bombay, where it amounts to 17 per cent. Excluding British Baluchistan, this percentage is lowest in Assam where it amounts to only 2 per cent. In the other Provinces the population within municipal limits varies from 3 to 8 per cent of the total population. The average size of the Municipalities, according to population, varies in the principal Provinces from about 7,000 in Assam to nearly 40,000 in Madras. In the Central Provinces and Berar and the Punjab the average is 16,000. In Bombay and Burma it is 21,000. In Bengal it is 25,000 and in the United Provinces 35,000.

Elected members are more than one half (52 per cent) of the total number of members in all Municipalities taken together. Ex-officio members are 13 per cent and nominated members 35 per cent. Elected members are in a majority in the cities of Bombay, Madras, and Rangoon, and in the Municipalities of Bengal (excluding Calcutta), the United Provinces, the Punjab, Bihar and Orissa, and the Central Provinces and Berar. They are 50 per cent in Calcutta. There are no elected members in the Municipalities of the North-West Frontier Province and British Baluchistan; and they are only 18 per cent of the total number of members of the Municipalities in Burma (excluding Rangoon) and 36 per cent in Assam. In these places nominated members constitute a majority. The non-officials outnumber the officials in all Municipalities taken together in the proportion of nearly 4 to 1. The preponderance is greatest in the city of Calcutta where 90 per cent of the members are non-officials. Nearly ninety per cent of the members of all Municipalities taken together are Indians. Indians outnumber Europeans in all cases except in Rangoon where they represent 44 per cent. In the Punjab, and in the Municipalities of Bombay (excluding Bombay city), more than 90 per cent of the total number of members are Indians.

Generally speaking, the income of the Municipalities is small. The four cities—Calcutta, Bombay, Madras, and Rangoon—together provide nearly 39 per cent of the total income (i.e., excluding receipts credited to the head "Extraordinary and Debt") of ₹8,62,00,000. The average income of all Municipalities other than the four mentioned above is only ₹73,908. It is highest in the North-West Frontier Province (₹1,57,000) and lowest in Assam (₹25,000). The proceeds of the principal heads of revenue for all Municipalities taken together and the percentage borne by each principal head to the total income are shown below:

| | Income (in lakhs of rupees) | Percentage to total income |
|---|---|---|
| Municipal rates and taxes:— | | |
| House and land tax | 1,85·49 | 21·5 |
| Octroi (net) | 1,43·90 | 16·7 |
| Water rate | 97·25 | 11·3 |
| Conservancy tax | 61·35 | 7·1 |
| Animals and vehicles | 20·60 | 2·4 |
| Professions and trades | 17·55 | 2·0 |
| Tolls on roads and ferries | 16·75 | 1·9 |
| Lighting rate | 15·37 | 1·8 |
| Other taxes | 29·67 | 3·4 |
| Revenue derived from municipal property and powers apart from taxation | 1,50·15 | 17·4 |
| Grants, contributions, and miscellaneous | 1,24·12 | 14·4 |

Octroi is the chief source of income in the Punjab, the North-West Frontier Province, Delhi, the United Provinces, the Central Provinces and Berar, and Bombay (excluding Bombay city). The percentage borne by it to the total income of the Municipalities of the province is given in the margin. Octroi is also levied in Bombay city where it contributed 18 per cent of the total income. It is not levied elsewhere except in the Sambalpur District which at one time belonged to the Central Provinces but now forms part of the new province of Bihar and Orissa. In Bengal, Madras, Assam, and in the four cities of Calcutta, Bombay, Rangoon, and Madras, other municipal rates and taxes, the most important of which is the tax on houses and lands, provide the greater part of the total municipal income. In Burma, excluding Rangoon, nearly half the total income is derived from municipal property, chiefly markets and slaughter houses. The general incidence of taxation per head of the population of the municipal area was R3·36 in 1915-16, but it varies greatly in different areas, thus :—

NOTIFIED AREAS

In the Punjab, Delhi, the United Provinces, Burma, Bombay, the Central Provinces and Berar, and the North-West Frontier Province certain provisions of the Municipal Acts are extended to small towns, which are not fitted for the full responsibilities of the Municipal Government but which nevertheless require organised measures for sanitation and other purposes. These are described as "Notified Areas," and under the Acts providing for their constitution, each area must contain a town or bazar, must not be a purely agricultural village, and must not have a population exceeding 10,000. The statistics relating to these areas are not included in the tables. The number of Notified Areas and their total income and expenditure in 1915-16 are shown below :—

| | Number of Notified Areas | Income | Expenditure |

DISTRICT AND SUB-DISTRICT BOARDS

(For tables see pages 195—203)

The duties and functions assigned to the municipalities in urban areas are assigned to the Boards in rural areas. These Boards operate under the sanction of the legislature (given in or about 1884) in every province except Burma. In each district there is a Board, subordinate to which are two or more Sub-district Boards, and in Bengal, Madras, and Bihar and Orissa there are also Union Committees or Panchayats. During the year under report the local bodies in Bengal appear to have failed to make full use of their resources in spite of their enhanced powers and greater freedom from control. In Madras, the administration of Taluk Boards and the Panchayats continued to work satisfactorily. In the United Provinces the main interest attaching to district board administration during the year under review is in connection with the progress made in adjusting the working of the various departments to the standards of expenditure laid down two years ago by the Local Government. In Bihar and Orissa, the activities of the Boards have on the whole well sustained and improvement has been shown in the matter of expenditure on Education and Medical. In the Punjab, there seems to be a growing tendency on the part of the members to interest themselves more than before in the duties of their position; and the general working of the Boards is characterised as satisfactory. In the Central Provinces and Berar the year witnessed an increase in the activities of the local bodies in various directions due to the grants made by Government for Education and for the maintenance of roads and buildings transferred from the Public Works Department to District Councils. In the North-West Frontier Province the working of the District Boards appears satisfactory on the whole. As regards the general activities of the Boards, their main direction has once again been the improvement and extension of education in their respective districts.

Table 79 shows the number and constitution of the Boards. There are in India 199 District Boards and 537 Sub-district Boards subordinate to them. There are also 522 Union Committees, 408 in Madras, 90 in Bengal, and 24 in Bihar and Orissa. The population of the tracts over which the Boards have jurisdiction was nearly 215 millions in 1915-16, according to the local reports. Excluding the Union Committees, to which the elective principle has not been applied, the members of the Boards numbered 17,131 in 1915-16, of whom 6,526, being about 38 per cent, were elected. The others were either nominated or ex-officio members (7,939 of the former and 2,666 of the latter), and of these the largest numbers in proportion to the total number of members are on the Boards of the North-West Frontier Province, Delhi, Coorg, Bihar and Orissa, Madras, and the Punjab. The elected members in Madras number 1,168 out of a total membership of 6,358 for District Boards, Sub-district Boards and Union Panchayats. In the North-West Frontier Province and Delhi there are no elected members. In the Central Provinces, the United Provinces, Bombay, and Assam elected members have a substantial majority. The percentage of elected members of District and Sub-district Boards to the whole number in the principal provinces is as shown in margin. The average for all these provinces is 48 per cent. The Boards are practically manned by Indians who constitute 94 per cent of the whole, numbering 16,121, as compared with only 1,010 Europeans and Eurasians. Twenty-three per cent of the total number of members of all Boards are Government officials.

Table 80 gives details of the income of the Boards. Apart from the items which are classed under the general head of "Debt"—some of which are merely entries of account—the total income of the Boards in 1915-16 amounted to R691 lakhs, against R730 lakhs in the preceding year. The average income (including "Debt") of each District Board together with its subordinate Sub-district Boards was R3,77,128. The 19 Sub-district Boards in Assam (where there are no District Boards) had an average income of R1,11,655 each. The Union Committees of Bengal and Bihar and Orissa had an average income of R1,214 and R1,697, respectively, and the Union Panchayats of Madras had an average income of R2,622 each.

The most important item of revenue is provincial rates, which represent a proportion varying from 27 per cent in the Central Provinces and Berar to 63 per cent in Bihar and Orissa of the total income of the Boards. The following table shews the percentage of each principal source of income in the chief provinces :—

| | Provincial rates | Police | Education | Civil Works |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Bengal | 59·3 | 3·4 | 9·4 | 11·6 |
| Madras | 32·1 | .. | 8·8 | 28·8 |

Table 81 gives details of the expenditure of the Boards. The expenditure of the Boards, omitting, as in the case of income, all items classed under "Debt," was R746 lakhs as against R719 lakhs in the previous year. R416 lakhs, as against R407 lakhs in the previous year, were spent on the construction and maintenance of public works, such as roads and bridges. The other principal objects of expenditure were :—Education R182 lakhs : Medical R70 lakhs, chiefly on hospitals and dispensaries and vaccination. The following table shews for each of the principal provinces what percentage of the total expenditure (including "Debt") is devoted to each of the main heads:—

| | Civil Works | Education | Medical | Administration |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Bengal | 34·6 | 20·7 | 6·9 | 2·3 |
| Madras | 54·9 | 12·5 | 9·4 | 2·3 |

PORT TRUSTS

(For tables see pages 204—206)

The administration of the affairs of the larger ports is vested by law in bodies, specially constituted for the purpose, called Port Trusts. These Trusts exist in Calcutta, Bombay, Madras, Karachi, Rangoon, Chittagong, and Aden. They have wide powers, but their proceedings are subject in a greater degree than those of municipal bodies to the control of Government. These bodies are charged with the provision of suitable dock-accommodation and other necessary services to shipping. A chairman is appointed by Government, but a large proportion of the members represent the commercial communities interested in the port, who are, except in Aden, elected by Chambers of Commerce or similar bodies. In Calcutta, Bombay, Rangoon, Madras, and Karachi, the municipality is also represented. The revenues which the Port Trusts administer are mainly derived from dues on shipping and goods, and from fees for services rendered. The Trusts are empowered to raise funds by loan to meet capital expenditure.

Table 82 shows the constitution, the total income, expenditure, and capital debt of each of the six Port Trusts dealt with in these statistics. [Aden is not dealt with in these tables.]

| | Number of members | Income | Expenditure | Capital debt |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | | (Lakhs of rupees) | | |
| Calcutta | 16 | 159·3 | 149·1 | 1,075·5 |
| Bombay | 17 | 134·3 | 137·1 | 1,478·6 |
| Madras | 12 | 26·7 | 28·9 | 121·8 |
| Karachi | 11 | 35·5 | 38·5 | 261·2 |
| Rangoon | 12 | 45·4 | 39·8 | 298·6 |
| Chittagong | 9 | 4·3 | 4·6 | 5·4 |

The total figures for 1915-16 are shown in the margin. Except in Calcutta, the elected members are fewer in number than the nominated members. Non-official members out-number official members at all the ports. At all the ports the European members constitute the majority, and the Trust for Rangoon consists wholly of European members.

Details of the income of each port are given in Table 83 and those of expenditure in Table No. 84. The marginal table shows the ratios borne by the income and the expenditure of each port to the total income and the total expenditure, respectively, of all the ports. The total income and expenditure of the six ports amounted to R803·84 lakhs in 1915-16, against R758·40 lakhs in 1914-15, of which 72·1 per cent stands against Calcutta and Bombay (combined), this proportion corresponding fairly to the proportion of the maritime trade which centres in those two ports. In the ten years ending 1915-16, the income and expenditure of each port have increased as shown in the margin. The total income of all the ports has increased in the decade by 72·4 per cent and the total expenditure by 82·4 per cent.

| | Income per cent | Expenditure per cent |
|---|---|---|
| Calcutta | 39·3 | 37·4 |
| Bombay | 33·1 | 34·5 |
| Madras | 6·3 | 7·2 |
| Karachi | 9·7 | 9·7 |
| Rangoon | 11·2 | 10·0 |
| Chittagong | 1·4 | 1·2 |

| | Increase per cent | |
|---|---|---|
| | Income | Expenditure |
| Calcutta | 55·2 | 50·7 |
| Bombay | 81·0 | 115·0 |
| Madras | 175·6 | 263·3 |
| Karachi | 21·5 | 55·8 |
| Rangoon | 123·2 | 98·8 |
| Chittagong | 140·3 | 254·6 |

The total capital debt of the Trusts at the end of 1915-16 was about R3,241·2 lakhs, against R3,029·4 lakhs in 1914-15, of which 33·2 per cent represented the debt of Calcutta, 45·6 per cent of Bombay, 3·7 per cent of Madras, 8·1 per cent of Karachi, 9·2 per cent of Rangoon, and ·2 per cent of Chittagong.

* These tables are compiled from the latest Census Tables and revised every year by all the local Governments and Administrations, who also supply the figures of land revenue and rates for Table No. 3

(a) The figures given are the revised figures for the Presidency of Bengal as constituted on the 1st April 1912

(b) Exclude figures for Manipur which are not available

(c) After the census of 1901 was taken, part of the territory of the Punjab was organised as a separate province (North-West Frontier Province)

(d) The figures of the Baluchistan Census of 1891 are entirely imperfect, representing only a rough enumeration of certain selected areas. They do not admit of comparison with the figures of 1901 and 1911

(e) Berar was amalgamated for administrative purposes with the Central Provinces from October 1903

(f) Specially administered territories comprising Shan States, Pakokku Hill Tracts and Chin Hills

(g) Excluding Baluchistan

(h) The figures for Bihar and Orissa for 1891 have been calculated by deducting the revised figures for the Bengal Presidency as constituted in 1912 from the figures for Old Bengal as it existed before the partition of 1905

* Compiled from special returns supplied by the Collector of Customs, Bombay, and the Port Officer, Karachi

† The ports for the embarkation and debarkation of pilgrims are appointed by Local Governments. At present Bombay and Karachi are the only two authorised ports. From the year 1896, the year the Act came into force, to January 1903, Chittagong was the principal port of embarkation, Bombay having been withdrawn from the list of appointed ports owing to the prevalence of plague. In 1903 Bombay was thrown open to pilgrim traffic and from that year the entire outward pilgrim traffic has concentrated itself at the port of Bombay. For the first time since 1902-03, some 201 pilgrims sailed from Karachi viâ Bombay, during 1912-13
